GOERING SAYS WAR'S START WAS DELAYED

Britain's Pledge to Aid Poland In Event of Hostilities Caused Hitler To Hold Up Attack

STATEMENT IS FILED

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Nuernberg, Dec. 6—(AP)—Britain's pledge to aid Poland in the event of hostilities delayed the start of World War II seven days as Hitler unsuccessfully tried to keep the British neutral, according to a statement by Herman Goering filed at the war crimes trial today.

Allied prosecutors filed the statement with the international military tribunal. Goering, one of the 20 Nazi leaders on trial said Hitler originally had planned to invade Poland Aug. 25, 1939, but held up his attack until Sept. 1 while his diplomats sparred to try to "eliminate British intervention."

The Goering statement said Britain's signing of the Polish assistance pact on Aug. 25 made Hitler pause. The fat reichsmarshal added that he had been in secret contact with Lord Halifax, then British foreign miinster, "to do everything to stop war with England."

Describing Hitler's last-minute efforts to keep Britain out of the war, Col. Merwyn Griffith-Jones, assistant British prosecutor, described the diplomatic maneuvering as "a bogus offer of negotiation intended simply to bribe or otherwise keep England from assisting Poland."

Earlier in the statement Goering said he was "in connection with Lord Halifax by special courier outside regular diplomatic channels to do everything to stop war with England."

"Is it not a fact that preparations for the campaign against Poland were originally supposed to have been completed by the end of August, 1939?" Amen asked, according to the transcript of the interrogation. Goering answered "Yes."

Giving the full story of Hitler's decision to go to war, the prosecution submitted the texts of pleas from President Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, French Premier Eduard Daladier and Pope Pius which the fuehrer rejected in the three weeks before he launched the attack on Poland.

Hitler's decision to strike in the fall of 1939 was made five months earlier when he ordered the army to be ready to strike by Sept. 1, 1939. (The Goering statement indicated that Hitler had advanced the date a week in the interval.)

Proving the lies of Hitler's displomatic double talk with the fuehrer's own official records, British prosecutors revealed that a wehrmacht directive dated April 3, 1939, ordered the army to be ready for the Polish invasion "at any time from Sept. 1, 1939, onwards."

Three weeks after the Nazi "der tag" had been set, Hitler made a speech to the Reichstag on April 28, in which he shouted that he "had no thought of proceeding in any way against Poland," according to other documents introduced as evidence at the trial of

Accusation Against Acheson Is Made By Maj. Gen. Hurley

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley shouted in a stormy session of the senate foreign relations committee today that Dean Acheson had "destroyed" and "defeated" American policy in Iran.

Acheson now is undersecretary of state, No. 1 man under Secretary Byrnes. He formerly was an assistant secretary.

Hurley, who resigned last week as ambassador to China, did not explain immediately the basis for his contention that Acheson had defeated American policies in the Near Eastern country.

He and Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) shouted back and forth at each other before the testimony went into the record.

Senator Bridges (R-NH.) sought today to shed new light on U. S. policy in the Far East as Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley resumed testimonk before the senate foreign relations committee on the background of his startling resignation as ambassador to China.

Bridges said the debonair diplomat's opening testimony yesterday convinced him that Hurley had been "sabotaged" by his subordinates at Chungking and in Washington. The New Englander added that while President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes apparently had backed Hurley up privately, they had failed to do so publicly.

Before the hearing ends, Byrnes is expected to give the committee the state department's side in the long-shouldering controversy which which flared openly when Hurley quit last week.

The gist of Hurley's complaint was that he had been sent over to China to keep the Chinese in the war and to attempt to restore harmony in the Chinese government, but that subordinates wanted to arm the Communists.

Farmer Guilty Of Plotting Murder

Belvidere, N. J., Dec. 6—(AP)—An all-male jury, after almost two hours of deliberation found James C. Gibbs, 56, wealthy Johnsonburg farmer and bank director, guilty of a charge of advocating last September the murder of his wife, Mrs. May Gibbs, 58.

The jury foreman, Clyde Wallen, told Warren county judge Clark C. Bowers that the jury recommended clemency. The judge set Dec. 19 for sentencing. Defense counsel announced an appeal to the New Jersey supreme court was planned.

Frank Whittman, 67-year-old negro and a former employe of the Gibbs, who operates a feed store, testified for the state that he was approached by Gibbs and was promised $500 to kill Mrs. Gibbs.

He said he reported the matter to the state police who instructed him to return and accept the $100 down payment offered and tell Gibbs that he needed a "tough guy" to carry out the fake robbery which was to cloak the murder.

Peace Issue For China Is In Abeyance

By JOHN RODERICK

Yenan, China, Dec. 6—(AP)—The question of peace or war in China hinges on acceptance by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek of the broad general principle of a democratic coalition government, Chinese Communist Circe at this Communnist headquarters city said today.

Inability to sell that point to the generalissimo caused the failure of Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley's mission as United States ambtssador, they aver that any impression that Chiang was ready and willing to give in on that subject and even had offered to take Communists into the government immediately was totally false, Yenan leaders assert.

The approaching peace talks at Chungking, likely to decide the entire course of the future, would be helped by considering little publicity community demands, Yenan says.

Mao Tze-Tung, the Communist leader, in a recently published book "on coalition government" forecast election of a central government dedicated to pushing a

STRIKE-BOUND PLANT MAY GO TO RUSSIA

Uniontown, Dec. 6—(AP)—Henry L. Charlton, president of Richmond Radiator Co., said negotiations are under way today to sell to the Russian government machinery and equipment of the company's enamel-ware plant here, closed by a strike since last April 28.

Charlton conferred with L. I. Smirnoff, I. A. Kudinov and B. Z. Gorsky, Soviet engineers, and other members of a delegation. A spokesman for the Russians said it was desired to use the machinery in a plant in a devastated area of the U.S.S.R.

A decision likely will be made this week, Charlton said. The plant normally employed 650 persons.

Phychiatrists To Examine Murderer

Uniontown, Dec. 6—(AP)—Judge W. Russell Carr recessed the murder hearing of Frederick A. Hauser today to allow the defense time enough to have psychiatrists examine the 19-year-old ex-sailor, who is charged with strangling the Fayette city "Sunshine Girl."

Advised by Judge Carr that the hearing should not be interrupted, Defense Counsel Paul K. McCormick said he tried to have Hauser examined in the county jail last night, but was "hampered by the district attorney."

Defense testimony is now under way for get the hearing being held to determine Hauser's degree of guilt. Hauser pleaded guilty to slaying Anna Elizabeth Dreyer, pretty 17-year-old waitress.

Trying to establish a defense of emotional insanity, McCormick asked witnesses if Hauser acted normally following the slaying.

Decision to Get Together Is Made at Secret Meeting Held In Pittsburgh Wednesday

MURRAY MAKES CALL

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—Representatives of the United States and British governments today signed a loan agreement for American financial assistance to Britain to total $4,400,000,000.

The amount of the loan was published in the British press. In Washington, all official information was withheld for the present.

The signing today, with Treasury Secretary Vinson representing the United States and Ambassador Lord Halifax representing Britain, was not officially announced and the state department declined comment.

Detroit, Dec. 6—(AP)—In the light of a new government wage-price policy, General Motors Corporation prepared to discuss wages with the CIO United Auto Workers today for the first time since the striking union brought virtually all GM operations to a standstill 16 days ago.

The resumption of full negotiations, including the union's demand for a 30 per cent pay raise, followed a secret meeting of General Motors and UAW-CIO representatives at Pittsburgh.

President Philip Murray of the CIO, who called the meeting, said "all points in dispute" would be considered. Walter P. Reuther, UAW vice president and leader of the GM wage fight, later added that the corporation had agreed "there will be no strings attached this time."

General Motors previously had refused to negotiate other issues until what it termed "illegal picketing" had been stopped. Sitch a practice, the management contended, prevented some 40,000 office workers, in addition to 175,000 strikers, from entering the struck plants.

Reuther and other UAW leaders have expressed the opinion that any contessions gained from General Motors—largest in the auto industry's "big three"—are virtually won for the entire industry.

For this reason, a union spokesman said, some 450 presidents and stewards of Chrysler Corporation locals voted here last night to continue work "for three months, if necessary" despite a breakdown in contract negotiations.

Two Powerful Jap Figures On Criminal List

By MURLIN SPENCER

Tokyo, Dec. 6—(AP)—Two powerful political figures whom many of the Japanese themselves consider among their top war criminals—Prince Fumimaro Konoye and Marquis Koichi Kido—were ordered arrested as war crimes suspects by General MacArthur today.

Seven other men whose activities date back to the imperialistic preludes of the Pacific war also were listed as wanted.

Konoye, the dashing prince, who served as one of Japan's most prized "front men," had been premier three times. Kido, a small, shrewd wirepuller, served as Emperor Hirohito's right hand man throughout the war.

Jittery Tokyo received another shock before it has recovered from MacArthur's announcement. Japanese Communists announced they woudld release on Saturday a list of 1,000 asserted Japanese war criminals,, including the emperor and empress.

In the diet, Premier Kijuro Shidehara declared that his government was in no position to criticize the Allied lists. He said he has no information on how many persons the occupation authorities intended to indict or try.

Kyodo News Agency said that Shidehara's cabinet had received a serious blow when it failed to obtain an Allied reprieve for Prince Morisama Nashimoto, who was named as a war suspect several days ago. Rumors are circulating that the cabinet will be forced to resign at the end of the diet session, Kyodo reported.

Locations for 29 Veterans Hospitals Are Given Approval

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Veterans Administration announced today presidential approval of locations for 29 new hospitals and one new home.

In adidtion, the agency said, Mr. Truman has authorized additions to several existing hospitals, and transfer to the Veterans Administration of seven army general hospitals, five for temporary use.

The locations for new hospitals as approved by the president include:

Philadelphia, 1,000 beds, including 600 beds previously authorized (neuro-psychiatric) Altoona, 200 bens (general medical and surgical); Erie, 200 beds (general medical and surgical); Harrisburg, 200 beds (general medical and surgical).

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, administrator of veterans affairs, was authorized to acquire several army hospitals and to convert them for the temporary use as VA hospitals. They include:

The action virtually completed construction allocations for the VA hospitalization program for estimated requirements until June 30, 1948. There was no estimate as to cost. A construction program, authorized in October, will cost about $158,000,000.

Funds for the new construction program will not be requested until the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1946.

STATE COMMITTEES SHOW SMALL BALANCES

Harrisburg, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Republican state committee spent $204,259 during the past year and on Nev. 19 had a bank balance of $24,611 and unpaid debts of $107,334.

David W. Harris, committee treasurer, reported to the state elections bureau yesterday that the bulk of the money expended came from a $137,082 balance left after the 1944 presidential campaign and from contributions totaling $92,787 received during the year.

The debts were listed by Harris as including $88,000 loaned the committee at various times since 1937 by Joseph N. Pew, Jr., and $17,500 loaned the committee in 1943 by Joseph R. Grundy.

In another report received by the elections bureau yesterday the Democratic state committee listed expenses of $18,286 for the year, and receipts of $15,767. The committee had a balance of $3,143 left over the 1944.

FOUR BILLION DOLLAR LOAN FOR BRITAIN

Official Announcement of Agreement Expected To Be Made Simultaneously Tonight

BOON TO WORLD TRADE

By BARTON D. PATTIE

London, Dec. 6—(AP)—A United States loan of $4,400,000,000 to Britain, subject to approval by congress and parliament, was announced today in the British press and was hailed as a boon to world trade.

Official announcement of the agreement, following 12 weeks of negotiations between the two countries in Washington, was expected to be made tonight simultaneously in the two capitals.

The London press said the agreement called for repayment over a 50-year period starting from 1946, and declared no interest would be payable for the first five years. Thereafter, the accounts said, the rate of interest would be 2 per cent—about $88,000,000 the first interest paying year.

None of the London newspapers commented editorially, but the tenor of the prominent headlines given the accounts indicated enthusiastic approval of the agreement both by the conservative and labor press.

London newspapers said the agreement provided that of the total amount of the loan, $650,000,000 would be used in payment for goods in process of delivery to Britain when lend-lease was ended. The papers, quoting their Washington correspondent, said the loan itself—$3,750,000,000—and the $650,000,000 lend-lease aid settlement would be repaid on precisely the same terms.

The dispatch to the Daily Herald said acceptance by the British or the Bretton Woods monetary plan was a condition of the loan, and that "the United States congress will be kept in session to ratify the loan simultaneously with the passage of the Bretton Woods bill by parliament."

Announcement of the agreement came aftre concern had been expressed in official circles here over progress of negotiations. When it had been reported that negotiations were on the brink of complete breakdown, the dispatches said, Sir Edward Bridges, permanent secretary to the treasury, was rushed from Londan to Washington by plane on three hours notice.

Traffic Impeded By Freezing Rain

Pittsburgh, Dec. 6—(AP)—A freezing rain glazed streets and highways in parts of western Pennsylvania today, resulting in numerous traffic mishaps.

Transportation was slowed down. Ice formed on trolley wires causing streetcars to limp along behind schedule. Driving was hazardous because of icy windshields. Many motorists abandoned their cars and sought other ways of getting home.

Fifteen cars skidded together in a single mishap on the Westinghouse bridge on Route 30, the Lincoln highway. Another accident on the Bloomfield bridge involved five cars. No other was hurt in either case.

Highways were reported danger-out in Fayette and Westmoreland counties.

All air traffic was grounded at the Allegheny county airport at 10 o'clock last night.

TOT KILLED BY CAR

Bellwood, Dec. 6—(AP)—Playing tag with his brother and two playmates, seven-year-old Richard Baker darted into the path of an auto and was killed in this Blair county community last night. Coroner Daniel M. Replogle said both the front and rear right wheels of the machine ran over the boy's body.

Private Who Detected Enemy Planes Flying Toward Pearl Harbor Calls Probe "Asinine"

New York, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Herald-Tribune said today that Joseph P. Lockard, who as a private detected and vainly warned that Japanese planes were approaching Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, has termed the congressional investigation of the Pearl Harbor attack "asinine."

Lockard, recently given an honorable discharge as a first lieutenant, was reached by telephone at his home in Williamsport, Pa., and the Herald-Tribune quoted him as saying:

"I've been wanting to say this for years. Responsibility can't be pinned on any American. We have lost sight of one important fact—the Japanese were responsible for Pearl Harbor.

"I don't think the investigation is doing our country any good. I don't think it's doing our foreign relations any good either. We're in a very critical period now. The country is far from straightened out. Yet they'll take up the time of dozens of senators investigating something of which the true perspective won't be apparent for at least fifty years.

"I don't see how or why you could blame America. We're not the kind of people the Japs are. We can't anticipate dastardly things. The Japs did it and only the Japs," Lockard said.

Lockard said that he was operating a radar detector on the morning of the Pearl Harbor attack and had located the planes, while they were still 132 miles away.

The radar showed the incoming planes as "little pips jumping off a straight line on the radar screen—indicating aircraft," Lockard said.

On Dec. 7, 1941, Lockard, then 20, and a soldier for a year and a half, was a radar specialist attached to signal corps aircraft warning, Hawaii. With Pvt. George Elliott, he was assigned to radar detection that day from 4 a. m. to 7 a. m.

Lockard told the Herald-Tribune that the island was on "partial alert" then, and that the detectors were closed at 7 a. m. on Sundays and holidays.

Lockard continued that he "saw" the planes at 7:02 a. m., called Elliott, who agreed that a large flight of planes was approaching and then called the information center at Fort Shafter.

The switchboard operator then notified Lt. Kermit A. Taylor. Lockard said Lt. Tyler told him he was expecting a group of B-17s and to "forget it."

Halsey Is Opposed To Merging Forces

Washington, Dec. 6 — (AP)—Fleet Admiral William F. "Bull" Halsey told senators today that the proposed merger of armed forces "is un-AmericanR, undemocratic, and dangerous."

(His prepared statement read "damn dangerous" but the admiral skipped the "damn" as he read it.)

The colorful sea fighter who battled Japs to the gates of Tokyo, appeared before the senate and military affairs committee and opposed legislative proposals for a single postwar department composed of navy, army, and air force branches.

Admiral Halsey said that Russia tried a single defense department long ago and Japan and Germany "also had a navy dominated by the army x x x look where they are now."

"One might just as well ask a committee composed of a protestant, a Catholic, and a Jew to save our national souls by recommending a national church and creed," he said.

Halsey, with Fleet Admiral C. W. Nimitz sitting nearby, testified that "to assume that this 'strange marriage' will bring about greater efficiency is pure bunk."

Long Beach Has Million Dollar Fire

Long Beach, Calif., Dec. 6—(AP)—A raging waterfront fire th... damaged two navy vessels and half-destroyed a $1,000,000 outfitting dock was bruoght mostly under control early today after approximately 1,000 men had fought it for three and one-half hours.

The navy C-2 type cargo vessel U.S.S. Extavia and the navy fleet tanker U.S.S. Marias, both laden with fuel oil, were damaged. The Extavia was most seriously burned with much of her superstructure destroyed. E. J. Amar, Long Beach port manager, estimated that damage to the dock, other wharves and the ships might total more than $1,000,000.

No serious injuries were reported but approximately 25 men were treated for burns and suffocation.

Two coast guard fire boats were lost.

KANE-LUDLOW OVER TOP

Kane, Dec. 6—(AP)—Over the top again went the Kane-Ludlow area in the Eigh War Bond Campaign. "E" bond sales reached 150 per cent of the quota.

Tragedy Hangs Over Home of Sailor In Navy

Philadelphia, Dec. 6—(AP)—The black shroud of tragedy today hung over the burned-out home of a Philadelphia sailor, now on duty in the Pacific.

Two-year-old George Blackson and his sister, Vera, 3—children of Seaman 1/c George Blackson—were burned to death last night when fire destroyed their two-story, two-room home while their mother was out buying groceries for dinner.

Matthew J. Acton, 41, a neighbor, was burned trying to rescue the tots.

"I saw the older child rolling around the floor in agony his clothing aflame," he said. "I tried everything I could. I got part way inside but couldn't make it. The flames were too much."

She collapsed while watching the flames destroy her home and her young family as firemen and other would-be rescuers stood helplessly by. She was treated at a nearby hospital.

G. O. P. Maps Program For 1946 Elections

The 1,000-word document carries the approval of party members in both house and senate, who accepted it as an interim Republican statement of aims and purposes.

Its main provisions:

1. Foreign affairs—Full support of the United Nations Organization and relief measures abroad "to prevent chaos through misery."

2. National defense—Support a well trained and fully equipped army, navy and air force.

3. Domestic economy—Lighten taxes and reduce the national debt, bring government outlay in line with income, economize in government spending, and remove wartime restrictions and controls as soon as possible.

4. Labor policy—Reaffirm labor's right to organize and bargain collectively, contracts to be mutually binding. Press for improvement of governmental mach-

PITTSBURGH'S TAX RATE HITS A RECORD

Pittsburgh, Dec. 6—(AP)—Pittsburgh city taxes reached a new high rate yesterday when council set the levy at 28 mills on land and 14 on building valuations.

This was an increase over last year of three mills and 1.5 mills in the two classifications. Previous highest was 26 and 13 mills in 1930.

Full collection of the levy would bring in $19,367,298. The new millage applies against a total valuation of $960,000,000.

The council vote on the tax boost was unanimous.

COMMITMENT BY PRESIDENT IS DISCUSSED

EVIDENCE IS UNFINISHED

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—General George C. Marshall testified today that early in 1941 he decided "to rob practically all combat pursuit squadrons in the United States of most of their P-... planes" for the defense of Hawa...

Marshall, then chief of staff ... the army, also told a congressional committee investigating t... Japanese attack on Pearl Harb... four years ago that he knew ... no commitment by Preside... Roosevelt for the United Stat... to go to war before it was a... tacked.

The matter of sending additional pursuit planes to Hawaii wa... brought up by Committee Cou... sel William D. Mitchell.

Mitchell recalled a War-Na... department agreement in ear... 1941 that attack from the air ... Pearl Harbor's No. 1 danger.

As a result of that, Marshall said, he sought "to see what radical measures might be taken to meet to a degree" the needs of the Pacific outpost.

Thirty one P-36's were rounded up, he recalled, leaving most fighter squadrons in the United States with three P-36's each. Marshall said the 31, with the pursuit planes already in Hawaii, brought the total there to 50.

Mitchell questioned Marshall at length about the pre-war Allied conferences, apparently in an effort to clear up contentions that the United States was committed to war before the Japanese struck Hawaii.

A report of some of the conferences was inserted in the record and Mitchell asked:

"Did you ever know of any commitment by the president or anyone else by which the United States was committed to engage in war without being attacked."

"No sir, I did not," Marshall replied.

"Did these conferences contain any commitment for the United States to go to war?"

"No sir," Marshall answered emphatically. "I didn't interpret them as such. They were intended to deal only with possible eventualities."

Mitchell asked whether Marshall knew of any commitment made

Shawmut Co. Miners Will Return Soon

St. Marys, Dec. 6—(AP)—A strike of 350 miners started in mid-July may end late today at a meeting in the office of the Shawmut Mining Co.

At this session, representatives of the Force local of the United Mine Workers will report the result of a union meeting last night when the workers discussed proposals of the two newly-appointed receivers of the company—Richard C. Sproul, Jr., Pittsburgh accountant, and Attorney Thomas C. Buchanan, of Beaver.

If the proposals are satisfactory to the miners, it is expected work in the Proctor Nos. 1 and 2 mines will resume in a few days.

Other points which the miners had insisted be settled before they go back to work were:

1) Reappointment of Dr. Elizabeth Hayes as company doctor. It was her resignation as company physician, in a protest against what she called "intolerable" conditions, which led to the strike.

(2) Elimination of the conditions to which Dr. Hayes objected.

The receivers suggested to the miners they might buy their homes and make their own sanitary arrangements in the Elk county towns of Force, Byrnedale and Hollywood.

Alias Santa Claus Is Glum As Mail Yields But One Check

Alias Santa looked rather glum this morning as he sat running his hand through his whiskers and occasionally whisking a fly from his nose. There really were flies on Alias Santa this morning as the mails only gave up one check for $5 from Connelly's Grocery, on the East Side. He had been looking, we guess, for a regular avalanche of checks and cash.

"Somehow" quoth the old fellow, who has done so much good in years past "that first big splash when the folks sent in a couple of $100 dollar checks, sort of inflated me. But I really think the good folks are going to get busy and send me a lot of money. The only good I can see about this stuff called inflation is when they inflate the Alias Santa fund and thats the tops.

"The need this year is just as great as ever and unless I get a lot of help its going to be tough for a lot of kiddies on Christmas morning. And I know Warren folks don't want that to happen."

And then he took a squint at the lists of givers in former years and muttered "I wonder who will replace Bert Baker, C. C. Miles, Mrs. James Kitchen and some of my other worthy givers on the lists this year."

Snow Flurries Swirl Across Number States In the South

By the Associated Press

Clear, cold weather prevailed over most of the southeast today, after snow had blanketed widespread areas of Alabama and Tennessee and snow flurries had swirled across Mississippi, as far south in Florida as Pensacola, and in North Georgia and the Carolinas.

The pre-winter storm that brought a five-inch snowfall to Nashville, Tenn., interfering wi... traffic and communications, and left a 12-inch deposit in sections of East Tennessee, was ctentered early today off the North Carolina coast.

A chill rain drenched the Carolinas, Kentucky and Virginia, where a snow a foot deep had been reported yesterday.

The skies over New York were overcast. It was cold in Maine, and freezing or slightly below in southern New England. The mercury hovered at 27 at Hartford, Conn., 30 at Boston.

Good News for a Sailor

Biggest Bucks, Like Biggest Fish, Got Away This Time

Every hunting season one or two good stories are unpacked and the present deer season has brought forth its tale. In a way, this is also a fish story, although the deer is the big feature. Tuesday one of the trucks from the State Hatchery arrived with a load of trout for stocking county streams. Five or six fellows including John Schuler, Frank and Curt Sasserson went out to help plant the fish. The three mentioned had been out hunting on Saturday and Monday without seeing a deer so determined to take their rifles along.

Out to the South Fork of the Tionesta went the truck and the fellows to aid in placing the fish The truck just drew into position along the stream when some one said "Look at those bucks". And right in the open within a 150 feet of the parked truck and cars stood two of the biggest and finest racked bucks that any of them had seen in years.

The trio hastened to their cars, got out their rifles and loaded them and by that time the bucks had ambled away and departed for parts unknown and the boys—just went on planting fish.

Reports are to the effect that the kill this year despite bad weather has been highly satisfactory and that the animals slain are the finest in years. Most of them have fine racks and are truly a huntsman's trophy. Perhaps due to the fact that no hunting was enjoyed last year by hundreds of men the bucks had a chance to live and develop for another year.

Old Sports To Discuss Bady To Boost Fun

This evening at the Elks Club a group of Warren men will get together in an endeavor to form a club for the purpose of boosting sports of various kinds in the city. The group will not give particular attention to any one sport but will do its best to keep the sports-minded folk of the city up and on their toes for the best in all sports.

Most of the fellows have at one time or another taken part in various sports teams and clubs in the city and should have plenty of experience in putting the pep into the town.

"Rusty" Elliott is one of the prime movers in the formation of the club and he has imbued a lot of other fellows with his enthusiasm for the club formation.

Good News Is Given Men In Draft Call

Inquiry at both of the local draft boards elicits the information that from all indications there will be no call for induction into the United States service until after Christmas. In several towns of this section—Corry and Jamestown calls were received to ship out men on December 20 at Jamestown and December 21st from Corry and Union City. Both boards are endeavoring to have the men held at home until after the holiday.

As yet no quota has been received from December by either of the Warren Draft Boards and no call is expected that will send the boys away before Christmas. If such a call is received the Boards are expected to request a postponement until the Christmas holiday is past.

However both boards have calls for men to go to Harrisburg for pre-induction examinations. These however are not to go until December 27.

The AUTOMATIC Conservator

One of the greatest inventions to come out of the war

1. One filling of the magazine lasts several days in average weather—one filling per day is enough for coldest weather.
2. Burns more of the coal—only a fine ash remains. No muss—ash falls into removable container in dust-tight compartment.
3. Ashes need be removed in handy container only once every few days in normal weather. Produces far less ash than any other stove, because combustion is so complete.
4. It is only 47¼ inches high. Occupies little more than two feet of floor space.
5. Light it once and it will burn all winter without rekindling.
6. Burns graded sizes of anthracite, coke, or bituminous coal—(in bituminous, low volatile bituminous gives best results).
7. It is a circulating heater—not a radiant type—making it possible to keep all of the space it heats at comfortable temperature.
8. The only coal heater with automatic thermostatic control—no dampers to watch. The famous Conservator 3-way Thermostatic Control means less attention.
9. Attractively finished in black porcelain enamel to assure long life. Easy to keep clean and shining. No stove polish needed.

Talk-of-the-Month Club's Membership Drive Under Way

Advance reports on Warren's Talk-of-the-Month Club membership campaign indicate that the drive is well under way. It is the aim of the sponsoring committee to bring to Warren four outstanding authorities on world affairs, one speaker to appear for each of the months of January, February, March and April.

The sponsoring committee consists of 15 members of the following organizations: Men's Bible Class of First Methodist church, YMCA, YWCA, and College Women's Club. Speakers will be heard at Founders Hall, First Methodist church, and membership in the club is limited to 400 persons.

The drive opened Tuesday evening and will continue on Tuesday evening, December 11, with membership rolls open to everyone in Warren and surrounding communities. No memberships are available after the close of the campaign and no single admissions will be accepted at any time. Checks for membership may be mailed to Ralph Wagner at the YMCA or to Mary Church at the YWCA.

At the meeting of the sponsoring committee Tuesday evening, several speakers were discussed and a tentative selection made. From this group the board of directors will make their choice of four to appear in Warren in the coming months.

Selected tentatively were John B. Hughes, top flight Mutual Broadcasting commentator, who gives "News and Views by John B. Hughes"; James L. Wick, editor of Prentice-Hall's weekly news letter, who reports on "What's Happening in Washington"; Cpl. M. Thomas Tchou, former secretary to Chiang Kai-Shek, with up to the minute news of the situation in China; Judge J. M. Baude, famous Boys' Court judge of Chicago, with the topic "I Like Bad Boys"; Welthy Honsinger Fisher, wife of the late "Bishop of India" and now traveling in South America, who will return in February to tell of latest developments in Latin America; Dr. James Bender, who writes frequently for Saturday Evening Post, Good Housekeeping, Coronet and many other publications, and whose talk on "Good Human Relations Are Good Business" is entertaining, as well as intelligently analytical; Dr. William L. Stidger, Boston author, radio speaker and world traveler, who gives in his "Passing Parade of Greatness" personal glimpses of his many friends among the great personalities of the past decade.

Labor Hot Spot Described By A. P. Writer In Capital

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—This an ABC explanation of the labor hot spot, the hottest spot labor has found itself on in years.

Action to curb unions or strikes seems sure to come out of congress now. But don't bet.

The main heat is in the house. When the house gets through with a bill, the senate has to pass on it. The senate may tone it down.

In congress are three main proposals which have organized labor fighting mad.

No. 1. President Truman asked congress for power to set up a board to find the facts when, because of a labor dispute, there's the threat of a major strike.

Ford 30 days—while the board dug into the records and arguments of a union and a company—workers could not strike.

Neither the board nor the president would have power to force the union or company to comply with the board's finndings. Public opinion would be the compelling force.

This kind of law would be very similar to one which, since 1926, has affected railroads, airlines and their unions. There hasn't been a major strike in those industries since 1926.

But the big three of organized labor—CIO, AFL and the United Mine Workers—are solidly against the president's plan. They want no curb onn their right to strike. They say that weakens unionism.

The president wants his proposal made into law by Christmas. The house labor committee is going to try to rush it through.

No. 2 the May-Arends bill. This would deprive a union—if it struck during the life of a contract which contained a no-strike clause—of its bargaining rights for one year and make it subject to a damage suit by anyone claiming to have been injured by the strike.

No. 3. The Hobbs bill. Rep. Hobbs (-Ala) fathered this one. This bill would make it a crime—punishable by 20 years in jail or a $10,000 fine—to interfere with commerce or trade by highway robbery or extortion.

Hobbs says his bill is aimed at preventing "racketeering," specifically in a case like this:

A farmer, driving produce into a city, is stopped by labor men who force him to pay a certain sum—perhaps the day's wage of a union driver—before he can proceed into town.

AFL President William Green and R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO Autoworkers, yesterday described both measures as savagely anti-labor.

Both bills may be held back to await action on President Truman's proposal.

If there is any delay, then watch for a strenuous effort in congress to get the May-Arends and (or) the Hobbs bills up before the house for debate and vote.

Egg Production Shows Decline

Harrisburg—Although the number of layers on Pennsylvania farms was 15 per cent greater in October than in the previous month, production of 152,000,000 eggs was only 1 per cent over September, due to seasonal declines, the State Department of Agriculture has announced through a survey by the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service. Production for the month of October was 11 per cent below that for the same month last year.

Feed costs are increasing and in some localities corn and wheat for grain feeding are hard to obtain, the department said. Commercial poultrymen report paying this October about 4 per cent more per 100 pounds for feed and receiving about 13 per cent more for eggs per dozen compared with October 1944. Feed costs advanced 1 per cent over September and eggs advanced .013 cents per dozen, causing the egg-feed ration to decline 1 point from September 1. The average price received per dozen was 53.7 cents.

For the first 10 months of 1945 egg production in Pennsylvania was 2,109,000,000, or 13 per cent less than the record production for the same period during 1944.

Reviewing the national poultry and egg outlook, the report said prices received by farmers for eggs in 1946 may be at or near support levels during most months, in contrast to the situation during most of 1945, when prices were at ceilings. All demand factors, except possibly demand for exports, will be weaker in 1946, it was said.

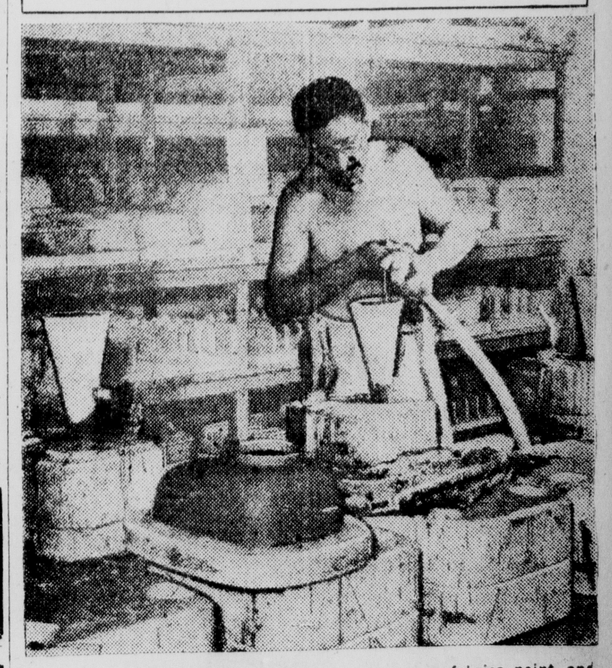
Bathroom Fixtures Need Fat



In order to speed up the production of nylons, soap, fabrics, paint, and other scarce personal and household items, American women will have to intensify their salvage of used cooking fat, according to the Department of Agriculture. Here, Philip Weber, caster at Trenton Pottery Co., Trenton, N. J., fills molds with processed clay. Fats and oils are required in the manufacture of bathroom fixtures like these. Save every drop of used cooking fat. It's now worth four points per pound.

HONOR WELL DESERVED

With the ending of the work of the Warren County Salvage Committee Chairman Wylie T. Corbett was presented with a gold medal by the State Salvage Committee for a good job done. The medal was deserved and Warren county folk who observed the job performed by Mr. Corbett feel that a diamond should also have graced the medal. The award is made by the state for 5000 hours of work, but those familiar with what Mr. Corbett accomplished, feel that he worked nearer 10,000 hours.

He was at his office early in the morning and late at night. His telephone jangled incessantly and he was never too busy to go out and bring in a load of paper in his own car. Long after the collection of tubes for tooth paste and shaving cream came to an end he gathered them up at stores and Warren county sent in thousands of them.

The tin can collections were magnificent and the cars were loaded with care, and many letters of commendation for the fine processing of the cans were received. Metals were salvaged by careful investigation into possible sources by Mr. Corbett personally and the reward was great.

Business principles were applied to the Salvage office and thousands of dollars were returned to the schools, lodges and charities of the county. The canning center was made possible by use of the funds collected by the Salvage Group which paid the bills.

Perhaps no other man in Warren county worked so hard in the war effort as Mr. Corbett and every citizen of this county can well join with the Times-Mirror in paying tribute to his efforts.

Thousands in this section would welcome the introduction in the House of Represenntatives at Washington by Congressman Leon Gavin of a bill setting aside a half million dollars for the creation of recreational facilities in the Allegheny National Forest. The Forestry department has no funds for such works.

Maj. Gen Leslie R. Groves, the atom bomb expert, says the atomic project couldn't have succeeded without the help of 2500 enlisted men, scientists from the Army "who border on genius." Are we to assume, from the case of these border-like noncoms, that it takes authentic genius to achieve the rank of second lieutenant?

OPA is soon to announce an increase of five dollars a ton on the stuff on which your newspaper is printed. But as Ed Stevenson says in the Titusville Herald, "We're not worried, because publishers can go on relief the same as anyone else."

The National Safety Council is again conducting a nationwide campaign to lower the accident peak which occurs each Christmas holiday season. That is a laudable program and one in which every person can participate.

Reports are current that the highway from Heart's Content to Sheffield is on the program for improvement in the near future. State Senator Chapman and Assemblyman Gibson should get busy on this project.

An underpass for Route 6 at Chestnut street does not meet with the approval of Warren people and the Town Council should make every effort to block that proposed plan.

Still They Can't Keep Him Out of Trouble

Stamp News

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON—I have heard all the stories about delayed mail to the boys overseas—about those GI's who received three months' mail and 150 letters at one time and about those who never received letters or packages at all.

There is, however, another side of the picture. A little over three years ago, I was present in the Post Office Department building when the Army Postal Service was born.

There was a lot of big talk about what the Army Postal Service was going to do. Little of it was as big as what they eventually did do.

* * *

IMAGINE a city of several millions—only New York and Chicago can be mentioned in the same breath and neither has a population that compares with the armed forces mail boxes at their greatest. Imagine these individual mail boxes scattered over the whole world and changing so rapidly that their own commands lost track of them for months and even years.

To answer the incoming and outgoing mail demands of these millions before it was over, the APS established more than 800 postoffices in 55 countries. In March of 1945, these postoffices handled 266,000,000 pieces of mail—more than 50 a month for each soldier overseas. Money orders, at the rate of $55,000,000 a month, with a total well over a billion and a half, were purchased by the men in the services.

In spite of free mailing privileges, the APS sold more than $100,000,000 worth of stamps and stamped envelopes.

By end of the war, 87 per cent of the overseas mail was moving by air. Christmas a year ago, APS handled 60,000,000 overseas gift packages. When V-mail was discontinued Nov. 1, 1945, more than a billion and a quarter letters had been micro-filmed to and from the men in service and as many as 60,000,000 such letters had been sent and received from overseas in a single month.

Although it isn't generally known, APS also had charge of all incoming and outgoing personal cable and radio messages from and to the men overseas. It also handled the world-wide voting program by which men in the fox-holes from Guam to beyond the beaches of Normandy were able to cast their ballots in the 1944 elections.

* * *

"AVERAGE" airmail deliveries were slowest to India-Burma and China, which they reached in 12 and 10 days respectively. New Guinea and Germany were only an average nine airmail days away; and the Philippines, France and Italy only eight.

We all know the stories about the letters and packages that never arrived at all or arrived so late the ink was faded and the paper crumbling to dust. If the APS has reported its figures true, there are better stories than that about the boys who were half way around the world but only a couple of airmail weeks from home sweet home.

County Agent's News

Give High Producing Cows Ample Minerals

Since milk contains minerals, high-producing cows require large amounts of minerals in their feed, reminds County Agent O. C. Tritt.

Corn silage, corn fodder, and grains, he says, are low in minerals. High in minerals which dairy cows need are legume hays, such as alfalfa, clover and soybean.

The amount of minerals required by cows depends upon the kind of roughage used. Cows that eat 20 to 25 pounds of good legume hays a day require little or no additional mineral, while those fed largely on grain, corn silage, or corn fodder need liberal amounts of mineral matter.

Nearly all needed minerals are provided even in the low-mineral feeds, and a simple mineral mixture is all that is needed in addition, according to extension dairy specialists of the Pennsylvania State College.

Minerals usually deficient in dairy feeds are salt, phosphorus, and calcium. Extension dairy specialists say iodine should be added in the northwest section of the State.

Steamed bone meal supplies calcium, phosphorus, and salt. Iodine can be provided in the form of iodized salt. When steamed bone meal cannot be obtained, di-calcium phosphate may be substituted.

Superphosphates and phosphate rock have been found to contain impurities, some of them harmful, and should not be fed to cattle. Commercial mineral mixtures have been found valuable for the steamed bone meal, or di-calcium phosphate and salt they contain. Dairymen are advised to study the analysis carefully before purchasing.

Put the bone meal and salt in separate boxes where the cows may serve themselves. If they can get it every day or two they will satisfy their needs.

For cows kept in the stall the grain may include the salt at about one per cent of the grain mixture, and bone meal or di-calcium phosphate may be added to the grain mixture at the rate of one or two per cent (by weight) of the grain mixture.

Young calves also need minerals, and, like cows, can show the lack of it in loss of appetite, a rough condition of hide and hair, or a depraved appetite which leads them to eat clay or chew on wood, bones, or iron.

Some out-of-state areas have been found where certain feeds have lacked minerals needed by cattle, but extension dairy specialists report no such conditions are known to prevail in any area in Pennsylvania.

Kiwanis Hears Of Proximity Fuse Secrets

Walter Jones, chief radio engineer for Sylvania Electric Products, Inc., at Emporium, gave Kiwanis Club members one of the most interesting talks to which they have listened in many months when he appeared at their Wednesday luncheon-meeting at the Carver Hotel.

Now it can be told might be the theme of his remarks, since his talk dealt with one of the war's most closely guarded secret, the proximity fuse, rated second in importance, and that only in some circles, to the atomic bomb in bringing the war to an end.

Mr. Jones began with the situation in 1939, when militarists relied chiefly upon two types of fuses for exploding shells: The contact fuse, which fired only on contact with the target, and the time fuse, pre-set to explode at a given distance from the muzzle of the gun. Either or both of these, he said, was still pretty much guesswork and a search was started to find something foolproof. Radar was not yet fully developed and increasing air speeds made necessary some new device.

The proximity fuse, perfected by Sylvania engineers and produced by them only, was the answer. This particular fuse, designed to explode the shell when it came within 50 feet of plane, ground or water, was part of a miniature radio-like device built into the nose of the shell and operable at 450 feet from the muzzle. For a period of about three and one-half years, it was used only over water in order that the enemy might not learn its secret. Later is was used, according to the speaker in defeating buzz bomb attacks, as a last resort in the Battle of the Bulge and, still later, against Jap low level attacks. Producing as many as 460,000 daily in its various plans, portions of the proximity fuse were made in the local Plant No. 2.

Announcement was made at yesterday's meeting that the club will provide a special evening's entertainment for residents of the Rouse Hospital prior to Christmas, the planning to be in charge of George Seavy.

Members Baker, Arbogast and Carlson were named as an auditing committee.

FARM NEWS

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, Dec. 6—Ever eat fried turkey?

It's delicious, a department of agriculture expert said today, especially when cut-up pieces are simmering in a covered pan or skillet, or stewed before frying.

Experiencing success during the Thanksgiving season with "split" birds, or turkeys cut in half for small families, families and dealers were expected by the department to sell cut-up turkey just as chickens have been sold for some time, in cut-up pieces by weight and prices according to choice of cuts.

E. J. Lawless, Jr., in charge of poultry and egg marketing activities in the department, said he anticipated the demand for "split" and "cut-up" turkeys may become year round, adding encouragingly:

"Many Pennsylvania growers acquired poults during most of the summer months so that a good supply of young turkeys will extend into next spring."

More than 20 statewide agricultural associations have already made plans to participate in the annual state farm show week educational meetings here next Jan. 22, 23, and 24, secretary of agriculture Miles Horst announced today.

The sessions, however, will be conducted without the added attraction of exhibits and contests in the big farm show building which the army has occupied for the past four years.

A number of farm organizations open meetings on Tuesday, Jan. 22, including the Pennsylvania growers association, state horticulture Association, Pennsylvania Crop Improvement Association, Future Farmers of America, Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers Association, Herford Cattle Breeders Association and the various swine breeders' associations.

On the following day, sessions will be held by the society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania, the Aberdeen-Angus Breeders Association, Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association, Guernsey Breeders Association, Pennsylvania Holstein Association, Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club, Pennsylvania Livestock Breeders Association, Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers Association, State Beekeepers Association and the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation.

With travel restrictions lifted, secretary Torst, also chairman of the state farm commission, anticipates an attendance of up to 8,000 farm people.

Clusters in the Erie fruit belt, were most are grown, were small and straggly, with many cracked and shelled berries.

A preliminary survey made this month showed a preliminary estimate of 6,000 tons of grapes for the 1945 crop. This production is less than one-third of the 1944 crop of 195,000 tons and is 11,590 tons below the average for the 10-year period, 1934 to 1943.

Flying Rice Patrol for Hungry Malayans

RICE IS "THE STAFF OF LIFE" of the people of Asia, and the years of the Jap occupation have left many places short of this essential food. Some of these villages in Malaya cannot be reached by heavy trucks and to these a regular "rice patrol" is flown by the giant Sunderland flying-boats of the British Air Force. The inhabitants have been given regular ration books by the British which are clipped when they get their weekly three-pounds supply. This is half the amount Malayans usually eat but they eke it out with fish and fruit until their regular supplies begin again. This picture shows the natives of Kuantan in boats crowding round one of the British planes to get their rice.

BROADWAY

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK — Frank Sinatra, who has been looked upon in many quarters as a curiosity which couldn't possibly last, has definitely scotched that sort of attitude and now, during his current personal appearances in New York, is proving that he is an assured, capable entertainer and not just a sudden bobby-sockers' enthusiasm.

In his appearances at the Paramount Theater and at the Waldorf - Astoria's fashionable Wedgewood Room, Sinatra is playing to two distinctly varied audiences. . . . At the Paramount, of course, he is working to the bobby-sox clientele in all their shrieking, uninhibited glory. . . . His style of singing is the same but his new role of master of ceremonies is slightly different from the one he uses at the Waldorf.

• • •

IN HIS hotel appearances, Frank is convincing the older fans that he not only sings a swell song but has intelligence, assurance, good humor and a modesty which isn't merely a convenient public modesty but the real thing. . . . Frankie Boy has made a good many friends by these personal showings . . . and by the manner in which he has arranged them.

Back when he was just a kid band singer, Frank became friendly with Dick Stabile, one of the finest saxophone players in the swing business who had just started an orchestra and was heading for the top brackets. . . . The war came along as Stabile was becoming a radio and juke box favorite and he had to give up his career just like all other healthy young American guys. . . . He spent almost four years in the Coast Guard

When he got out, Stabile was sitting in an agent's office one day, trying out his new tweeds after wearing Coast Guard blue for so long and hoping the world and this agent in particular hadn't forgotten him too completely. . . . The door opened and a skinny fellow walked in, saw Dick and threw his arms around him . . . it was Sinatra, then preparing for his New York appearances. . . . The Voice brought Stabile into the agent's office and on the spot hired him to lead the orchestra at the Waldorf date.

Sinatra's pianist is a good looking, grinning blonde fellow named "Stitch" Henderson, also a friend of less solvent nays who, too, is just out of service after piloting bombers overseas. . . . The Voice, unlike many other sudden big-timers, has kept his friends around him and now that he's a success, intends to keep them with him so long as he retains his popularity.

• • •

FOR his Waldorf appearances, Sinatra has the largest band ever seen in a Manhattan hotel on a regular, every-night basis. . . . It is a veritable jazz symphony, with sixteen strings, full sax and brass choirs and such uncommon instruments for popular singing accompaniment as a harp, oboe, french horns and bassoon. . . The effects thus possible provide remarkably smart music of a sort seldom encountered in a saloon floor show.

A proposed $375,000,000 federal aid program for erection of 3000 new airports in the United States is expected to do for aviation what development of good highways in this country did for automobiles.

Senior Class At Youngsville Will Present Comedy

"The Winding Road," a threeeact comedy-drama by Lillian Mortimer, will be presented by the senior class of Youngsville High School at 8 p. m. Wednesday and Thursday, December 12 and 13, in the school auditorium.

The cast which is working hard during its three weeks intensive rehearsal period, under the direction of Miss Helen Zahniser and Mrs. Grace Lewis, includes the following students: Don Armitage, Lorraine Bogren, Helen Caldwell, Ruth Carlson, John Chitester, Ruth Cooper, John Donaldson, Sherwood Fleming, Sparkie Rhoades and Ronny Thompson. Charlotte Sandberg is prompter and Jean Bogert, as business manager, is in charge of class committees handling production of the play.

The seniors, producers last spring of the popular Jones family comedy,, "Almost Summer," are anticipating another highlight in Y. H. S. play production. With its Christmas setting and its story of youthful romance and intrigue, "The Winding Road" offers a particularly excellent entertainment for the pre-holiday season.

Catholic Women Planning Party

Catholic Daughters of America, Court 834, held its regular meeting at eight o'clock Wednesday evening in the K. of C. clubrooms, with the grand regent, Mrs. W. E. Cooney, presiding.

Plans were completed for the Christmas party to be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday, December 12, in the same clubrooms. All members are asked to bring a gift for the grab bag and a silver offering for the Benedictine Sisters' Christmas shower. Mrs. Frank Gerardi, Mrs. Ray Tesser, Mrs. C. P. Miller are in charge of arrangements for the affair.

The attendance prize for last evening went to Mrs. Joseph Massa. To conclude the evening, refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. M. Prigent, Miss Stella Cerra and Miss Eleanor Harrington.

Moose Women Busy With Plans

Last night's meeting of Warren Chapter, 693, Women of the Moose, was preceded by an executive session at 7:30 o'clock and a spaghetti supper served at six.

The chapter extended a welcome to Mary Lauffenberger, just returned from overseas service with the armed forces and honorably discharged from the Women's Army Corps.

A box was packed for Mooseheart and jams and jellies were collected for the hospital chairman.

The annual Christmas party was planned for December 19, when all co-workers are asked to bring a 25-cent gift for exchange. The group will join the men's lodge on December 21 for the big Christmas party, when children of the Hoffman Home are guests of the order.

To The Ladies

You'd think when Santa Claus has so many pressing engagements at this busy time of year his shoulders would be bowed low with care and woe—but just the opposite is true. Always a jolly fellow, with an eye out to the happiness of others, the delight so apparent in the accompanying sketch is occasioned by his receipt of the news that Warren Council, 563, United Commercial Travelers, has completed its plans for "Ladies' Night" and has requested his presence at the party. The date is Wednesday, December 12, and the time set for serving the turkey dinner is 6:30, sharp. Dress will be informal, according to the committee, which also advises of Santa's acceptance to be present with a treat for all concerned. The entertainment committee has perfected plans for an evening of fun and is anticipating a big turnout of Travelers and their ladies. Each one attending is asked to bring a gift, not to exceed 50 cents and to be plainly marked whether for lady or gentleman, since an exchange will be part of the planned schedule. Since the committee must know in advance for how many to prepare, the reservation cards are to be returned no later than Monday, December 10.

Grange News

WARREN GRANGE PLANS FOR PARTY

Holding their regular meeting last evening, members of Warren Grange made plans for a Christmas party in conjunction with the next regular meeting on December 19. All those having children are asked to bring them to the party and, if possible, to have them participate in the program with a reading, recitation, poem, song, etc. Children will bring 10-cent gifts for a grab bag and adults will exchange 25-cent gifts. There will also be a lunch served by the committee and adult members are asked to bring cookies to aid those in charge.

Routine business last night included balloting on candidates and reading of communications. To conclude, lunch was served.

PLEASANT UNIT

The December meeting of Pleasant PTA was conducted by President Alice Kightlinger, members voting to postpone the January meeting until the 8th. At that time the finance committee will award the Victory Bond. A "white elephant" sale is also planned for the near future.

At the close of the business session, Mrs. Jerry Archibald, as guest speaker, told the story of various Christmas carols and then these were sung by Girl Scouts of Troop 51, with Joyce Beebe at the piano. Serving of lunch closed the evening's entertainment.

Ekdahl Home Was Damaged In Bad Fire

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Williard Ekdahl, at Chandlers Valley, was badly damaged by fire Tuesday afternoon and the loss will be quite heavy as the upper portion of the home was badly damaged.

The fire started near the chimney of the dwelling and an alarm was sounded with many neighbors and the Sugar Grove fire department making a fast run. The firemen battled the fire, which was a stubborn one, while neighbors moved out all of the household goods. After some time the fire was extinguished without the flames reaching to the first floor, but the upper portion of the home was badly damaged and the roof suffered greatly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ekdahl have moved into the parsonage of the Lutheran church until repairs can be made to their home. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

At the time of the fire Miss Elsie Latt, who was caring for a young son of the Ekdahls, was alone in the house. Mr. Ekdahl was on his way home from the Chandlers Valley school, where he is principal, and Mrs. Ekdahl was at the Warren General Hospital with her four-year-old daughter, who suffered a broken leg while she was coasting last Saturday.

Accent On Romance Is Paris Word

By ROSELLEN CALLAHAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

There are two schools of thought about the evening silhouette in Paris. One says it must be romantic, with billowing skirts, and demurely covered shoulders. The other insists formal frocks be figure molding. Both agree about one thing, however—the dinner gown is an absolute "must" in every wardrobe.

LESSON NO. 1—EXTRA TRICKS COUNT PLENTY

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

While there are millions of bridge players in the United States, only a small percentage of them participate in tournament bridge. However, I predict that tournament bridge will become the country's greatest pastime. It is one of the few games in which young and old can compete on an equal basis.

The tournament bridge player must learn that the extra trick counts. In today's hand, the drop of the cards is particularly important. The opening lead is won by declarer with the club king,

	♠ Q J 6 2 ♥ J 8 ♦ K J 9 7 3 ♣ 9 6
♠ 10 7 5 ♥ 10 3 ♦ 8 4 ♣ Q J 10 7 5 2	W N E S Dealer	♠ K 8 4 3 ♥ Q 4 ♦ Q 6 5 2 ♣ 8 4 2
	♠ A 9 ♥ A K 9 7 6 5 2 ♦ A 10 ♣ A K

Duplicate—Neither vul.

South	West	North	East
2 ♥	Pass	2 N. T.	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♦	Pass
5 N. T.	Pass	6 ♦	Pass
6 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening—♣ Q. 6

and both the queen and ten of hearts fall on the ace and king. Now the question is, where are the queen of diamonds and the king of spades?

South cashes the ace of clubs and starts to run off the hearts. On the heart nine, East discards a club; on the seven he lets go the deuce of diamonds, and on the six, the three of spades.

Then comes the five of hearts. If East lets go the four of spades, south knows he is protecting diamonds. With the play of the heart deuce, East has to make a choice. If he throws the six of diamonds, he is obviously trying to protect the spade king. But dropping the three of spades and later discarding diamonds, he practically tells declarer that he holds the king of spades and the queen of diamonds.

The Fourth Mrs. Baker

By Ernestine Adams

AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 19

[Monday 7:37 p.m. to 9:40 p.m.]

SHE was trembling so when she entered the cold room that she had to clench her teeth to keep them from chattering. Inspector Venable and the man he called Brown accompanied her. An attendant pulled out one of the long drawers which lined the room and began to remove the cover when the Inspector stopped him.

"This isn't going to be a pleasant sight, Mrs. Baker, but I hope you can tell me if it is the woman you saw."

She tried to steel herself against the shock. She nodded without trying to speak.

The cloth was lifted. Even if she had known what they looked like she could not have recognized the smashed features. But the long blonde hair, which she could see now was dyed, brought the vision of loose curls waving toward the errant red hat.

She fought the nausea that threatened her. She couldn't let the Inspector see her being a sissy. Lightness swirled through her head and merciful unconsciousness came to her rescue. As from a far off cloud she felt the Inspector's arms about her — she hadn't the smallest doubt about whose arms they were—and knew nothing more.

The pungent odor of ammonia was the first thing her senses recognized. Then she saw the white uniformed woman who held the cotton.

"That's better," the woman said.

"Let's have some in water," came the Inspector's voice.

Julia drank and felt better.

"I'm dizzy because I haven't had anything to eat," she apologized.

"When did you eat last?" The Inspector bent over her.

"Breakfast, I think," she told him meekly.

"Get her up, Miss Annie We're going to eat."

She was strong enough to powder her nose with some care and retouch her lips

Resolutely she pushed aside the image of a woman with blonde hair who had stepped so lightly across the street two days ago.

INSPECTOR VENABLE put her in a taxi and directed the driver to an Italian restaurant. She felt weak but somewhat composed as if the mounting horror that filled her had reached the saturation point and nothing more could touch her.

"I let Harman know you were with me. He was worried," the Inspector said after they were seated at a small table with a spotless white cover over a red checked table cloth. He gave an order to the round-faced waiter and red wine and minestrone appeared almost instantly. Filling their glasses he kept on talking while she ate.

He talked of everything but murder while Julia consumed food—soup, spaghetti, veal fried in cheese, green salad with wine vinegar dressing and, finally, tortoni. Color came back into her cheeks and her eyes grew brighter. With renewed strength came fresh courage to face this last fantastic tragedy and to guard against the man opposite her who had a way of pushing through her defenses.

She accepted a cigarette and leaned forward for a light. After a drag, she asked, "Who is she?"

"I don't know." He at least didn't try to evade her.

"Then why—"

"She fell from the sixteenth story of the Janis Hotel about seven o'clock on the night your husband was killed. There was nothing to identify her. The peculiar thing was that she had no hat. There was none in her hotel room and she certainly had none on when she fell. A porter noticed that she wore a red hat when she went out in the afternoon and some one else saw her come in without it. When the ad appeared it was immediately connected with this unidentified woman—not, of course, with the Baker case."

She understood now the odd behavior at headquarters.

"My pictures must flatter me," she said smiling.

"They can't—" he caught himself and went on crisply. "When Brown went to pick up whoever came for replies he brought you in. You should have told me about the incident."

"I didn't think of it until later and it seemed to me if I could find the woman perhaps I would know more."

"Did you think she might be involved?"

The question was one she had been trying to avoid. She wasn't going to tell him about the certificate or he might feel he didn't need a confession. Robey had tricked her into a marriage and if she had found that it wasn't legal it gave her a formidable motive.

"Because I saw my husband give her some money and he was very close with moore. And, another thing, Moore often left the latch off when he stepped out for a short time so he need not be bothered about unlocking the door. He might have done it when he went for the medicine for Jerry."

"You thought the woman in the red hat might have come in?"

"I didn't know"

"She wouldn't have answered your ad if she had."

"I had to try." A thought struck her. "Why would she commit suicide?"

"She didn't." said Venable positively.

Julia's heart started a hard, painful throbbing and panic spread through her.

"There wasn't a thing left to identify her—no letters, no labels in her clothing, no laundry marks. There was only some silver change in the red purse and a compact and handkerchief. She left no note--which most suicides will do. My theory is that the killer gave her a blow which produced unconsciousness—there was no trace of drugs—and then went over the room carefully before he pushed her out of the window and escaped. He evidently took the money Baker gave her and everything that might have pointed to any connection with him."

"You think it was a man?"

"It could have been a woman."

"And there is no clue?"

"You have given me an important one. I am convinced that whoever killed the woman with the red hat also murdered Robey Baker."

When driving, remember that there are four cars which you must watch out for—your own, the one in front of you, the one behind you, the one around the bend in the road or coming down the side street which you can't see. BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Garden Club Staged Party At Youngsville

Youngsville, Dec. 5—Brokenstraw Valley Garden Club enjoyed a delightful dinner meeting Tuesday evening, Dec. 4th at the home of Mrs. Mirtie Kay and Mr. and Mrs. Roy McDowell. Between thirty and thirty-five were in attendance. A turkey dinner with all the fixings was the first feature. A turkey weighing sixteen pounds was roasted by Mrs. Kay and was a surprise to most of the members. Tables pleasingly decorated with Christmas greens and red candles were arranged through the house and dinner was served in buffet style—from the dining room table. An interesting contest in arranging Christmas greens was conducted by the president.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. G. Johnson, and opened with a roll call to which the response was the naming of Christmas songs.

A program committee to prepare the program for the coming year consisting of Mrs. R. C. Bailey, Mrs. Carr and Mrs. Grogin was appointed by the president.

Several guests were present and one new member joined the club. The program was conducted by the men of the club, the first feature was an instrumental selection by Joe Davis and Frank Black with Mrs. Davis accompanist on the piano.

The second feature was a one act play "Mr. Johnston" with the characters, Jack Wood (Ross Bailey); Bill Martin (James Hamilton); Mr. Johnston—(Mr. Carlson); Tony, Man of all works—Frank Black); The Sheriff; (C. C. Johnston). Mr. Stillings directed the play.

The play was very amusing and caused much merriment. Those taking part seemed to enjoy the fun as well as the audience.

The closing feature was some very clever magic tricks under the skillful direction of Mr. Craft. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Streeter, Tuesday, Jan. 1, 1946, and will be a truly New Years gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hendrickson of Bates street entertained last Wednesday evening at a lovely six o'clock dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hendrickson and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hendrickson's wedding anniversaries. Guests present included Mrs. Tilda Hendrickson, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jones and son, Warren; Mrs. Warren Hendrickson, Mrs. Fred Wermyth and son Freddie, Carl Swartz and the honor guests.

Gov. Martin Appeals For Victory Loan

In a statement Governor Martin said:

"The need for every American to buy the maximum amount of bonds possible is just as urgent now as at any time since the day of the infamous attack on Pearl Harbor, almost four years ago, and it is the duty, privilege and responsibility of the citizens of Pennsylvania to attain complete success in the Victory Loan Drive.

"The Federal Government needs the funds from Victory bonds to help pay the cost of the care of our war wounded, of the maintenance of ouh forces of occupation in Germany and Japan and of other final expenses of the war, so that in this way we may lay the foundation for lasting peace by keeping America strong.

"The seven day period from December 2 to December 8, 1945, inclusive, has been designated as 'Victory Loan Week' throughout Pennsylvania. Every man, woman and child is urged not only to buy E bonds to the utmost of their financial ability but also to stimulate additional sales among others.

"Let us 'finish the job' of war financing and thus fittingly commemorate our total triumph over the Germans and the Japanese and show our gratitude and thankfulness to our compatriots in the armed forces."

State G. O. P. To Discuss Slate At New York Banquet

Harrisburg, Dec. 6—(AP)—There will be plenty of good old-fashioned Republican "politicking" at the Pennsylvania Society dinner in New York Saturday, but the ticket-making for 1946 will come later.

"Nothing will be decided until Governor Martin says what he is going to do," one high-ranking GOP leader predicted today. "That won't come until after the holidays."

Martin has been boomed by some GOP leaders for the party nomination for the U. S. senate to oppose Senator Joseph F. Guffey, Democrat, next November.

Martin's friends indicated the executive's private wish is to retire to a "well-earned rest" after he completes his term in January, 1947, but no one will predict what his final decision will be.

More than a dozen potential candidates for governor or other places on the GOP slate will be among the nearly thousand guests expected at the dinner.

But all the talk so far, one GOP leader explained, hinges on the belief that Martin will decide in the end to run for the senate.

"If he says he will not run, that will throw the field wide open for both senator and governor," the leader asserted.

The dinner program calls for addresses by General Henry H. Arnold, army air forces chief, and Admiral Ernest J. King, retired chief of naval operations. Martin will introduce both speakers.

Arnold has been mentioned as a potential choice for governor by Republicans, but the Montgomery county native said "I must regret it does not fit into my plans for the future."

Other military figures listed in GOP circles as gubernatorial possibilities include Col. Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia, and Col. Daniel Strickler, of Lancaster, both of whom saw active service overseas in World War II.

Possible gubernatorial material in Pennsylvania ocialdom included Lieutenant Governor John C. Bell, Philadelphia; William S. Livengood, Jr., Somerset, secretary of internal affairs; John U. Shroyer, Shamokin, secretary of highways; Floyd Chalfant, Waynesboro, secretary of commerce; William Freeman, Lebanon, secretary of banking, and Gregg Neel, Pittsburgh, insurance commissioner.

Outside of official Harrisburg, others mentioned for governor include Senators Weldon B. Heyburn, Delaware county, and O. J. Tallman, Lehigh county; former Governor Arthur H. James, Plymouth; Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutcheson, new president of Lafayette College, and Chief Justice George Maxey of the state supreme court. James also has been mentioned for the U. S. senate.

Former Senator James J. Davis also is reported to be sounding out friends again in connection with next year's campaign, with the aim of gaining support for U. S. senator or governor.

In the days of Richard II, steaks, chops, etc., were never used but fish, flesh, fowl were chopped, minced or hacked into pieces and served as soups, potages, ragouts, stews or hashes.

A new spray has been developed which kills weeds among vegetables at a cost of less than $12 per acre, as compared with about $60 for hand-pulling methods.

Under French law, 14th century butchers could deal in one type of meat only and could sell it only under natural light; sales by candle light or lamp light were taboo.

Air for the Navy

Progress toward development of an "air Navy" is seen in Secretary Forrestal's announcement that Adm. John H. Towers, above, an air officer now head of the Fifth Fleet, "eventually" will replace Adm. Raymond A. Spruance as commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet. Naval aviators will hold more fleet commands and more top posts in Washington under the new policy.

Robert Taylor Wonders If Fans Still Remember Him

By BOB THOMAS

Hollywood—(AP)—Robert Taylor wonders if movie fans will remember him.

"It's been a long time since I was on the screen," he told me. "Song of Russia" was the last one, and that was three years ago. That's why I'll like to get back to work as soon as possible." He said he would probably be broke if his wife, Barbara Stanwyck, hadn't been working.

I saw Bob in his MGM dressing room, which he was trying to tidy up. His build hasn't changed—he lost only four pounds in the navy—but his face has a much more rugged appearance. And his voice seems much deeper, almost a bass. He is considering a story called "You Were There," which would be a departure for Bob. "I would play a 10-karat heel," he said.

Producer Louis de Rochemont is preparing a movie which he thinks will be 10 times as exciting as his recent thriller, "The House on 92nd Street."

It's an untitled story of the office of strategic services, the "cloak and dagger" men of the recent war, although they don't like that title. They're the men (and women, by the way, who performed espionage work in enemy territory. Rochemant told me his writers were havingfi trouble sifting the amazing stories of OSS men into a believable screen play.

The producer intends to film the picture in the same manner as "92nd Street." For Washington shots he will go to Washington. For the invasion of France he will go to Omaha Beach, or a reasonable replica. He said melodrama cannot be believable unless its backgrounds are the real thing. That's a revolutionary theory in this town of paper buildings and painted skies.

While guesting on Art Linkletter's afternoon "house party" show, I learned about his latest stunt for "People Are Funny." A contestant will fly 150 miles over the Pacific ocean and there drop 12 plastic containers. The containers tell the finder to contact Linkletter immediately and receive $1,000 if the first one. The contestant in the meantime gets a dollar a day until the grand is claimed. I'll be out there with my paddleboard.

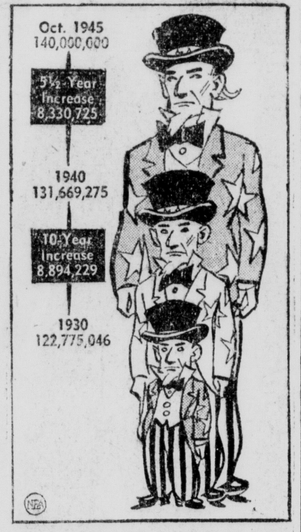
We Grow



The rapid increase in U. S. population is shown on chart above. About Oct. 1, says the Bureau of Census, Uncle Sam's family passed the 140,000,000 mark. Last official census was 1940, and in the five and a half years since then, the population has increased almost as much as it did in the 10 years previous.

Socialized Medicine Theme Of Social Science Speaker

For the second monthly meeting of the Social Science Section for this season, Dr. Gail K. Ridelsperger presented a very interesting talk on "Socialized Medicine."

He began by defining the terms Collectivism, Communism, Socialism, Fascism and Naziism, saying this seemed necessary to establish the fact that Socialism and Communism are based on the individual's doing that work for which he is best suited and in returning receiving that which he needs to live, which is comparable with the capitalistic system, wherein the individual's reward is based on the value of his work.

His next step was to clarify the subject of insurance, which is, basically, "spreading a known and calculable risk of not too common nature over a great number of individuals". Insurance ceases to have value, he said, when applied to a too common risk, something that would probably happen to all people. Since it costs money to administer an insurance company, he continued, it can be plainly seen that insurance for common ailments would not be practical. Insurance which has been provided in the past, and is most commonly thought of, is in reality indemnity insurance.

The speaker continued by saying that with the advent of hospitalization, a new type of insurance came into being, "service insurance". This he described as prepayment of service to be rendered. In this type of insurance, the insured is not guaranteed a certain, fixed sum of money for certain misfortunes, but, rather, is promised that his hospital bill will be better taken care of. In other words, not remuneration but service is guaranteed.

In guaranteeing such service, the hospital service association must have its guarantee from the hospitals that they will provide the necessary service. Thus, the two must draw up a contract between them and in most cases the service association sets the terms to be paid the hospital for certain specific work done. Thus it will be seen that the service association stands as a third party between the patient and the hospital.

Socialized medicine, he stated, would work much the same way, in that the service association is standing between the doctor and his patient and sets the terms upon which a doctor must work and the patient shall be cared for. It is apparent, he said, that this eliminates the element of individual initiative from the doctor's work and makes him merely the pawn of the service association. "Under this plan the doctor's work is controlled by an outside force which seems leading toward socialism," stated the doctor, "and this we do not want. It is not the basis upon which the strength of our country is based. We have progressed because individual initiative has been recognized and repaid".

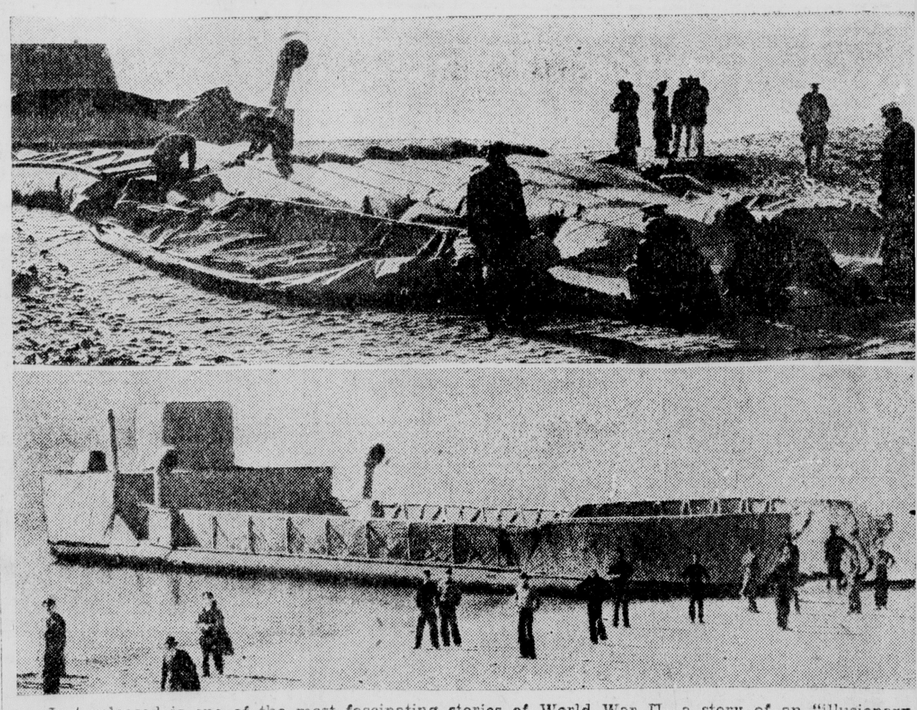
Lies the Might of America

FRUITS OF GOOD EARTH

Orange consumers have been familiar with California's fruit for years but few realize that the crop of 1940 was valued at 48 millions while that of 1944 brought 154 millions, an increase of 224 percent. Potato growers tripled their output and peaches jumped from a 10 million dollar harvest to 41½ millions. Small crops like prunes and apricots had several hundred percent increase. For years California soil will help feed the world and add to the Nation's wealth behind War Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department

'Illusionary' War Revealed Against Nazis



Just released is one of the most fascinating stories of World War II—a story of an "illusionary war" which aided in bringing the enemy to his knees. It involved the use of rubberized fabric and canvas which, when cut to pattern and inflated, assumed the appearance of weapons vital to the Allied attack. Among the most important of such weapons was the simulated Landing Craft, Tank, fashioned in Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant at Akron, O., which is pictured above. Top photo shows the parts assembled and in the process of inflation. Bottom photo shows the inflation complete, the result being a craft which, to enemy observers, had all the appearance of an LCT. These were used effectively to confuse the Nazis as to the date and scene of the D-Day attack. They also drew enemy fire and diverted enemy attention so as to ease the D-Day task.

Laborites Are on Trial In England, MacKenzie States

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

London—England's naw socialist government naturally is being viewed in varying lights, but one finds the opinion widely expressed even among conservatives that the big labor majority in the house of commons is an extremely bright and active body of men and women.

Indeed, I heard it characterized by a conservative parliamentary expert of great experience as the best-informed house ever elected. Be that as it may, it certainly is keen and active, as your columnist team found upon attending yesterday's session.

I asked Mrs. Mac what her outstanding impression was and she laughingly replied that she was overwhelmed with the scotch accent. Well, it must be admitted that it was pretty thick, for there are a lot of Scots in the house and we struck a period of questions about Scottish affairs. The queries and answers had a burr that you could cut with a knife. Personally I haven't heard so much undiluted Scotch since the days when grandma used to sing to us youngsters in Gaelic, and grandpa would gather the family about him on their knees and pray in the highland tongue for a solid hour while he instructed the Lord on the affairs of good Presbyterians.

Thus far the conservative opposition, of which former Prime Minister Churchill is leader, has had little to say. Yesterday they sat largely in silence, regarding the Laborites with the tolerant disbain which a mastiff might direct toward a Mexican hairless pup. Whether this attitude has been an exhibition of tolerence or of impotence remains to be seen. Having watched the great Churchill in action in commons for many years at close range, I can hardly believe he won't stage an offensive in due course. There are reports that the Conservatives are getting set for an attack.

In any event, the Socialists (of Laborites, if you wish—they themselves use both designations) are on trial in a big way before not only their conservative opponents but the entire country. Here it is important to note that the Socialists received a very large vote (especially middle-class) from other political parties, including the Conservatives.

It is significant that the elections for individual vacancies in commons (they call them by-elections) have continued to return Laborites. The same has been true of many municipal elections. This means that the result of the general election wasn't a matter of snap judgment, but that the country is determined to find out whether the labor party program can bring better days to England.

The task which the Socialists have before them is one which tax the abilities of any parliament. England today is facing the greatest peace-time problems she has entered in modern history. Indeed, the vast task of rehabilitation which lies ahead may prove to be even greater than that presented by the war.

Brig Hound

Into the brig went Capriccio, a brown cocker spaniel, when it was discovered that the pooch had been smuggled aboard the cruiser Boise at Le Havre, France, by Seymour Spellman of New York, a home-bound Army veteran. Above, Capriccio gazes sorrowly from behind the bars as the Boise docks in New York.

Air Medal Is Given Co-pilot

Headquarters in Calcutta advises that Flight Officer William M. Boreman, co-pilot, 140 Terrace street, Warren, has been awarded the Air Medal, the announcement coming from Brig. Gen. William H. Tunner, commanding general of the India-China Division, Air Transport Command.

The division is completing, by homeward movement of freight and personnel, its war mission of trans-India, India-China and intra-China transport. It has made air history by flying cargo and passengers in regularly scheduled day and night transit over routes once virtually unuseable, primarily the famed "Hump". Its war contribution, say aviation leaders, has provided far-reaching portents for the future of air transport on a worldwide scale.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of all U. S. forces in China, says of it: "Through enemy fire and through all sorts of weather, over oceans, mountains, desert and jungle, these planes came, never failing. Upon their cargoes battles have been fought and victories won. Upon their cargoes China survived when there was no other contact with the world. Your fliers made the Hump the most famous mountain range in the universe".

The normal pace of a marching army is three miles an hour. But it is the practice during every hour to halt for ten minutes so that the average rate of progress of the column is 2½ miles an hour.

Wherezit?

In the Allied doghouse is the tiny (191 sq. mi.) independent state of Andorra, perched, as map shows, high in the Pyrenees between France and Spain. United Nations War Crimes Commission investigators are reported to have traced hundreds of war criminals there. They are said to be holed up in mountain strongholds, well-supplied and well-armed, even to the point of artillery.

Change In Railroad Route Would Ruin Present Airport

Attention has been called to the fact that when and if the Pennsylvania railroad builds a new bridge across the Allegheny River at a point west of the city that the present airport would be ruined. The proposed rail line, as far as plans now discussed, would traverse the airport and would cause it to be abandoned.

This, however, is not causing too much worry for members of the Town Council and others who are interested in the airport as most of them feel that the Port is not of sufficient size to handle planes that will be in use following the reconversion period.

Runways of a size to care for really large planes with which it is proposed to handle passengers, express and freight must be used and the present airport cannot be enlarged to install such runways. From all indications if the railway uses the South Side route, and that is favored by Council and citizenry, a new air port site must be found. State and Federal aid in construction of a new port could undoubtedly be secured.

Titusville To Have Free Garbage Service

Titusville, Dec. 7—Titusville householders will get their garbage collected free by the city after the municipal incinerator, now in course of construction, is in operation. The incinerator is expected to be functioning by spring, city officials declared. Council also gave out some other good news—prospects of a half mill reduction in the city tax rate for 1946.

'Lost Weekend' Makers Hope One of Important Pictures

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood—(AP) — Now that "The Lost Weekend" is astounding movie customers, folks are speculating how the picture will affect the consumption of alcohol.

The film adaptation of the Chas. Jackson novel depicts faithfully (I understand) a weekend binge, complete with D. T.'s and everything. It is one of the two or three important pictures of the year and will cause much comment.

Its makers, Charles Brackett and Billy Wilder purposely injected a line by the male nurse in the D. T. ward of the public hospital. The current capacity of the ward is nothing, he says, you should have seen it during the prohibition days.

Producer Brackett said he and Billy have explored the baser passions too long and will do a musical next. Their star will be Bing Crosby.

Bond Sales Quota Is Topped By Metzger-Wright Employes

That the selling by the coworkers of Metzger-Wright's has not been devoted entirely to the selling of merchandise is evidenced by the report which comes from that store this morning when the announcement was made that they have topped their quota of $60,000 by $862.50 in the Victory Loan Campaign, making their total sales to date of $60,862.50 with a total of 283 bonds sold. Nothing daunted, these Victory Bond Salesmen have raised their quota to $100,000 which will mean a great deal of selling from now until the end of the Victory Loan Campaign.

The store is divided into three teams, the Red, captained by Miss Margaret Nesmith, the Blue, with Mrs. Lorraine Lane as its captain, and the White by Mrs. Mary Jane Olander. Each team has had its day of glory, the day when it was way out ahead of the others, but each day that has been changed and today, the White Team is a little over $1,000 ahead of the Blue Team with a total of $23,093.75 against the Blue Team's $21,787.50.

In the individual standings of the coworkers, Miss Janet Erickson and Miss Nina Sitler are in the lead with each selling over $15,000. During the next week, it is expected that many changes will be made in the standings of both coworkers and teams, and that when the final score is in that the total sales will be well over the new quota set by the coworkers in the Victory Bond Campaign.

Dr. C. J. Frantz Feels Trouble Is Nearing End

Dr. C. J. Frantz, who as citizen and councilman has been intimately acquainted with Indian Run over a long period of years this morning recalled that perhaps Council had been a little short sighted in years past. "Back in the days when labor and material was cheap" said the Doctor, "Indian Run could have been straightened out but it wasn't done and now the cost would be hig... While I was on the Council a plan was worked out to handle the waters of the run and some good resulted.

"Now I think with the project just ahead which I think will be carried out near the property of the Warren County Dairy plant that the run will give no more trouble. This is about the last point where the run is in the street and with the rest of it on private property I can't see where the borough is going to have much trouble. At the present time I cannot see where such a large expenditure as would be required to straighten out Indian Run would be feasible."

NOT MAKING CHECKS

State police this year are not taking part in a check of the deer killed in the Allegheny National Forest as they have done in former years. This year the check is being made by Game Protectors and deputies and stations are placed at key road points. So far few illegal kills of deer have been reported.

HELPS BALANCE BUDGET

In an evening at the sewing machine you can turn out just as attractive gifts as the plaid lamb, doll, picture frame and luncheon cloth which the smart gift giver above has made for Christmas.

By KATHARINE SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York—Handmade gifts will solve that familiar pre-holiday predicament of a long Christmas gift list and a short budget. Besides being easy on the purse, gifts you make yourself carry a much more intimate holiday greeting.

Women who learned to knit and sew during the war are now using that talent to whittle down gift lists. Sewing centers, which have been catering to capacity classes, have started special after-school instructions for teen-age seamstresses who want to send handmade novelties to friends this year..

Especially popular with the not too experienced seamstresses are such items as doll-sized wing chair sewing boxes, slip-covered with fabric scraps and fatly padded for pins; a polka-dot sash, decorated with buttons;; handkerchiefs with ruffled checked gingham edges, daintily stitched luncheon cloths and picture frames made of ruffly white cotton. An amusing gift for the tea-drinking friend is a cheerful tea cozy that looks like a cottage.

With a crochet hook and a few spools of thread you can quickly turn out a luxuriant looking handbag, chic hat, dress accesories or lacy mitts.

Needlepoint enthusiasts will be thrilled with the gift of an interesting sampler, pillow cover, or luggage rack set which includes the wooden rack frame. Cross stitched blocks in floral designs can be put together to make smart looking small rugs for boudoir or living room.

Fashionwise women are buying South American hand-loomed cotton fabrics in splashy colors and making gala place mats and fringed napkins for luncheon set gifts.

Self-Rising Glider

A glider which gets aloft under its own power is the claim for the high-wing craft above, manufactured by Nelson Aircraft Corp., San Fernando, Calif. Powering unit is a 4-cylinder, 2-cycle, 16-horsepower engine which operates a pusher-type propeller. William Hawley Bowlus, the designer, says the three gallons of fuel the glider will carry are ample for an hour and a half of full-throttle cruising at 75 mph.

Times-Mirror and Penn Bottles In City League Prelim at Y; Blomquists vs. Youngsville

The Sheffield Penn Bottles meet the Times-Mirror, and Youngsville engages Blomquists tonight in City Basketball activity on the Y hardwood, the Bottlers hoping to equal Struthers Wells' mark of 2 wins in as many starts and Blomquists and Youngsville botn seeking an initial win.

Action for the Sheffield quintet and the newspaper boys, still victoryless in their campaign, begins promptly this evening at 7:30 with Penn Bottle hoping to board once again the vitory train after losing an out-of-town game Monday at Jamestown against the Humidors. The Times outfit, on the other hand, hopes to make it No. 1, and it has all the possibilities after their fairly good showing Saturday night at the Y a gainst Sylvania.

The nightcap follows immediately afterwards at 8:30, and this game should match two quite equal teams. Blomquists took a 57-14 shellacking from Bakers in their opener, and Youngsville was whitewashed 51-11 by the powerful Struthers outfit in its first game.

The Penn Bottles will make certain tonight that they leave nothing undone in their attept to tie up the league race by emerging victorious over the Times-Mirror. League frays to date show the Bottlers proving a definite handicap to Manager "Rabbit" Swanson's Struthers team.

Penn Bottle will probably start Sabot anu Moore at forwards to oppose Times-Mirror guards Krespan and Johnson. P. Otto and Ken Bartsch will vie at the center posts, and Petruney and Kunselman will handle the Penn guard positions against Times forwards Scalise and Nelson.

In the second encounter, Ward and Valentine will be at forwards for Blomquists, Arnold at center, and Chimenti and Gustafson at guards. Opposing this combination will be Randinelli and Abplanalp at forwards for the Skating Rink, Murphy at center, and Richards and Dunkle at the guard spots.

District Ten Holds Confab At Meadville

Attending from here were J. B. Leidig, athletic director; Floyd W. Bathurst, local principal and H. D. Harris, principal of the Beaty school.

Principal item on last night's agenda was the voting upon six proposed amendments to the PIAA by-laws, and a general discussion on the district athletics was held.

Joseph J. Connors, head football coach at Oil City High School, was appointed chairman of a committee which is to work out a rating system whereby the gridiron champion of the Section Two may be determined. This league would include Warren, Oil City, Franklin, Meadville, and Titusville. Others named to this committee were F. W. Bathurst, Preston Ditty, Meadville coach, and E. J. Maddas, of Erie Academy.

Other items of business were the awarding of a trophy to Erie Academy for its winning the "Big 16" football conference and the appoinmtnet of a committee to plan Class A and B basketball playoff sites.

County Fives Open Seasons Friday Night

Several of the county cage quintets continue their basketball warring tomorrow night while several others prepare to inaugurate their 1945-6 season.

Sheffield's Wolverines, directed by "Lo" Eisenhauer, move into action for the first time this year when they play host to Tionesta. It will also be a first-nighter for the boys from Forest county. Pregame signs lead to a victory for the Wolverines even though Tionesta is coming back into the cage limelight very strongly with a bid for league honors. Sheffield has several veterans returning to the fold.

Once-defeated Youngsville invades Pleasantville for its second encounter under Mentor Artie Amann. The Eagles, who took a 54-14 whitewashing from the local Dragon outfit last Friday, hopes to even up their record in tomorrow's contest. Dick Smith, Youngsville center who was out of the Warren affair, is expected to return to battle. It will be Pleasantville's second game also.

Everett A. Landin sends his green Sugar Grove charges into the campaign on Friday against Lander on the latter's home court. Both these teams are league contendersfi and tomorrow's fight sets off the loop action.

Russell, with a victory over its Alumni, takes on Hickory on the local High School hardwood to open the latter's season. This game is also a league contest.

As yet, no basketball word has been received from Tidioute High School, but the boys are reported in fine shap.

Locals Await Friday Game At Jamestown

The Warren Dragon courtsters began polishing off today for their "telling" test with the Jamestown Red and Green tomorrow night at the Jamestown Senior High School gymnasium. Coach Joe Massa held no high hopes, however, for his quintet of six-footers although he expects them to put on a much better exhibition than in the two previous games.

The "Big Five" now holds two victories in as many starts, and tomorrow night they will be aiming at a nineteenth victory for Mentor Massa in his 25th start as head Dragon overseer. The Dragons will be out also to revenge two defeats suffered last season at the hands of Jamestown. The Red and Green last year, with 6 ft. 8 in. Royce Newell, outpointed the locals twice, 34-33 and 45-31, before the Massamen reversed the decision in a post-season encounter here, 40-29.

No changes have been made in the local lineup which starts five players ranging from six foot to six foot, five inches. Massa spent considerable time on Wednesday evening stressing passwork, which has been lacking in the first two encounters.

Friday's game will start at 8:30 preceded by a preliminary between the Warren and Jamestown Second teams.

Tigers Prepare For Slash At Minor Conference; Only Seven Have Chance To Stay

By SID FEDER

Columbus, O., Dec. 6—(AP)—The biggest stock of ivory up for sale, swanp or barter at the minor league trading mart is that collection of baseball talent which won the world's baseball championship for Detroit in 1945.

From what you heard around this dobby-sitting sweepstakes, only seven members of the Detroit Tigers have much chance of hanging their hats under that world title flag come post time for the '46 campaign.

These possible holdovers are pitchers Hal Newhouser, Mr. Twenty Games himself; Virgil (Fire) Trucks and his smokeball and Reliefer George Caster, along with Hank Greenberg, who is just about a death-and-taxes cinch to be doing business at his old first base stand; Eddie Mayo, the "Cinderella Man" second sacker, stringbean Paul Richards, who was all set to take things easy as a coach and now finds himself slated for catching duties again, and Skeeter Webb, who'll handle the utility infield chores.

It is a most unusual situation to find practically the entire lineup of a world's championship club on the block, and ardinarily it would be something like a guy trying to peddle a million dollar bank account for what he can get on the open market. But such was 1945 baseball in general and the weird workmen of the series in particular.

It is virtually certain that first baseman Rudy York is up for sale and that neither Jim Outlaw nor Bob Maier, who couldn't quite add up to one World Series third-sacker between them, won't be hanging out their shingle on the hot corner in 1946.

In place of the outfield that made those obliging curtsies at fly balls during the late series, there will be the returning hands from the armed forces, Pat Mullin and Barney McCloskey, who can hit that .300 bullseye with practically no trouble, and Hoot Evers, a youngster from the University of Illinois and the Beaumont Texas League club who is rumored to be at least a reasonable facsimile of DiMaggio, Ruth and Cobb combined. Hoat's still working for Uncle Sam, but expects "out" by the start of the season.

at the historic Roosevelt-Churchill conference in August, 1941, when the Atlantic charter was proclaimed from the cruiser Augusta at sea.

"I was not involved in the political discussions," was the general's terse reply.

Simultaneously with Marshall's appearance, the committee received documents showing that months before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor he had told Lt. Gen. Walter Short, army commander there, of the danger from a surprise air and submarine raid. In letters to Short from February to October, 1941, he also cautioned that the first six hours of hostilities would be the most critical period for the Pacific bastion.

A burst of applause from the audience greeted the smiling former chief of staff as he entered the hearing room.

Once the five-star general completes his testimony, he will leave for China as a special envoy for President Truman.

Gerhard Gesell of the committee's legal staff said Marshall might be on the witness stand a week.

The five-star general came before the committee after it heard the first assumption of responsibility by a witness for what he conceded might have been a war department failure to give sufficient warning to overseas commanders.

Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, head of the War Plans Division in 1941, told the committee dramatically yesterday:

"If there is any war department responsobility for failure to send additional warning to General Short, it must fall on the War Plans Division and as chief of the division at that time, I accept the responsobility."

Gerow's testimony was on the point that Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short had put into effect only a "sabotage" and not a full alert at Pearl Harbor in response to a message from Marshall.

POPULAR PHILLY NEWS WRITER PASSES AWAY

Philadelphia, Dec. 5—(AP)—Seth Maxwell, 62, one-time sports editor, financial editor and copy desk chief for the Philadelphia Record, died yesterday after a long illness.

Maxwell, regarded as one of the Quaker City's most colorful newspapermen, disliked being an executive. With the Record 21 years he was working as a copy reader—the job he liked best—at the time of his death.

"Maxie," as his friends called him, was a reporter for the New York Post in 1920 and later became city editor of that newspaper before joining the Record.

He protested frequently against being promoted—once in 1932 went out to lunch and stayed away three weeks because he was tired being telegraph editor. He returned with the distinct understanding that he was not to be promoted.

Negotiations To End Strike Are Resumed

The Chrysler-UAW contract was threatened after an all-night session Tuesday night in which the union selected a management offer to extend it for a year and the company turned down a union-proposed extension to Jan. 15.

Robert W. Conder, Chrysler director of labor relations, said Chrysler workers have been given a 15 per cent cost of living increase and an additional ten cents an hour was rejected by the union.

Norman Matthews, UAW Chrysler director, said "we're going to the plants and make Chrysler automobiles" while awaiting response to the union's request for federal conciliation.

One labor plank recommended by the house committee which drafted the document was deleted before its acceptance by house and senate Republicans yesterday.

This plank declared that no organization or labor should be permitted either directly or indirectly to use its funds for any political party or candidate.

The platform will be presented to the Republican national committee at its Chicago sessions tomorrow and Saturday.

Democrats in congress greeted the document with derision.

HUNTINGDON TRIAL IS NEARING AN END

Huntingdon, Dec. 6—(AP)—District Attorney I. Newton Taylor said he expected the trial of Roy R. Mull, 54 year old chicken farmer charged with murder in the shooting of Lee Barber, 72, to reach the jury today.

Mull testified yesterday that during a quarrel with Barber his mind went blank and he had no recollection of what happened.

He said that during the quarrel he accused Barber of being friendly with Mrs. Mull and that Barber told him to "prove it".

Earlier in his testimony Mull said he believed his wife was involved in a love affair with the aged widower. She took the stand to deny any wrong doing with Barber.

GOERING SAYS WAR'S START WAS DELAYED

Britain's Pledge to Aid Poland In Event of Hostilities Caused Hitler To Hold Up Attack

STATEMENT IS FILED

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Nuernberg, Dec. 6—(AP)—Britain's pledge to aid Poland in the event of hostilities delayed the start of World War II seven days as Hitler unsuccessfully tried to keep the British neutral, according to a statement by Herman Goering filed at the war crimes trial today.

Allied prosecutors filed the statement with the international military tribunal. Goering, one of the 20 Nazi leaders on trial said Hitler originally had planned to invade Poland Aug. 25, 1939, but held up his attack until Sept. 1 while his diplomats sparred to try to "eliminate British intervention."

The Goering statement said Britain's signing of the Polish assistance pact on Aug. 25 made Hitler pause. The fat reichsmarshal added that he had been in secret contact with Lord Halifax, then British foreign minster, "to do everything to stop war with England."

Describing Hitler's last-minute efforts to keep Britain out of the war, Col. Merwyn Griffith-Jones, assistant British prosecutor, described the diplomatic maneuvering as "a bogus offer of negotiation intended simply to bribe or otherwise keep England from assisting Poland."

Earlier in the statement Goering said he was "in connection with Lord Halifax by special courier outside regular diplomatic channels to do everything to stop war with England."

"Is it not a fact that preparations for the campaign against Poland were originally supposed to have been completed by the end of August, 1939?" Amen asked, according to the transcript of the interrogation. Goering answered "Yes."

Giving the full story of Hitler's decision to go to war, the prosecution submitted the texts of pleas from President Roosevelt, British Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain, French Premier Eduard Daladier and Pope Pius which the fuehrer rejected in the three weeks before he launched the attack on Poland.

Hitler's decision to strike in the fall of 1939 was made five months earlier when he ordered the army to be ready to strike by Sept. 1, 1939. (The Goering statement indicated that Hitler had advanced the date a week in the interval.)

Proving the lies of Hitler's displomatic double talk with the fuehrer's own official records, British prosecutors revealed that a wehrmacht directive dated April 3, 1939, ordered the army to be ready for the Polish invasion "at any time from Sept. 1, 1939, onwards."

Three weeks after the Nazi "der tag" had been set, Hitler made a speech to the Reichstag on April 28, in which he shouted that he "had no thought of proceeding in any way against Poland," according to other documents introduced as evidence at the trial of

Accusation Against Acheson Is Made By Maj. Gen. Hurley

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley shouted in a stormy session of the senate foreign relations committee today that Dean Acheson had "destroyed" and "defeated" American policy in Iran.

Acheson now is undersecretary of state, No. 1 man under Secretary Byrnes. He formerly was an assistant secretary.

Hurley, who resigned last week as ambassador to China, did not explain immediately the basis for his contention that Acheson had defeated American policies in the Near Eastern country.

He and Chairman Connally (D.-Tex.) shouted back and forth at each other before the testimony went into the record.

Senator Bridges (R-NH.) sought today to shed new light on U. S. policy in the Far East as Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley resumed testimonk before the senate foreign relations committee on the background of his startling resignation as ambassador to China.

Bridges said the debonair diplomat's opening testimony yesterday convinced him that Hurley had been "sabotaged" by his subordinates at Chungking and in Washington. The New Englander added that while President Truman and Secretary of State Byrnes apparently had backed Hurley up privately, they had failed to do so publicly.

Before the hearing ends, Byrnes is expected to give the committee the state department's side in the long-shouldering controversy which which flared openly when Hurley quit last week.

The gist of Hurley's complaint was that he had been sent over to China to keep the Chinese in the war and to attempt to restore harmony in the Chinese government, but that subordinates wanted to arm the Communists.

Farmer Guilty Of Plotting Murder

Belvidere, N. J., Dec. 6—(AP)—An all-male jury, after almost two hours of deliberation found James C. Gibbs, 56, wealthy Johnsonburg farmer and bank director, guilty of a charge of advocating last September the murder of his wife, Mrs. May Gibbs, 58.

The jury foreman, Clyde Wallen, told Warren county judge Clark C. Bowers that the jury recommended clemency. The judge set Dec. 19 for sentencing. Defense counsel announced an appeal to the New Jersey supreme court was planned.

Frank Whittman, 67-year-old negro and a former employe of the Gibbs, who operates a feed store, testified for the state that he was approached by Gibbs and was promised $500 to kill Mrs. Gibbs.

He said he reported the matter to the state police who instructed him to return and accept the $100 down payment offered and tell Gibbs that he needed a "tough guy" to carry out the fake robbery which was to cloak the murder.

Peace Issue For China Is In Abeyance

By JOHN RODERICK

Yenan, China, Dec. 6—(AP)—The question of peace or war in China hinges on acceptance by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek of the broad general principle of a democratic coalition government, Chinese Communist Circe at this Communnist headquarters city said today.

Inability to sell that point to the generalissimo caused the failure of Maj. Gen. Patrick Hurley's mission as United States ambtssador, they aver that any impression that Chiang was ready and willing to give in on that subject and even had offered to take Communists into the government immediately was totally false, Yenan leaders assert.

The approaching peace talks at Chungking, likely to decide the entire course of the future, would be helped by considering little publicity community demands, Yenan says.

Mao Tze-Tung, the Communist leader, in a recently published book "on coalition government" forecast election of a central government dedicated to pushing a

STRIKE-BOUND PLANT MAY GO TO RUSSIA

Uniontown, Dec. 6—(AP)—Henry L. Charlton, president of Richmond Radiator Co., said negotiations are under way today to sell to the Russian government machinery and equipment of the company's enamel-ware plant here, closed by a strike since last April 28.

Charlton conferred with L. I. Smirnoff, I. A. Kudinov and B. Z. Gorsky, Soviet engineers, and other members of a delegation. A spokesman for the Russians said it was desired to use the machinery in a plant in a devastated area of the U.S.S.R.

A decision likely will be made this week, Charlton said. The plant normally employed 650 persons.

Phychiatrists To Examine Murderer

Uniontown, Dec. 6—(AP)—Judge W. Russell Carr recessed the murder hearing of Frederick A. Hauser today to allow the defense time enough to have psychiatrists examine the 19-year-old ex-sailor, who is charged with strangling the Fayette city "Sunshine Girl."

Advised by Judge Carr that the hearing should not be interrupted, Defense Counsel Paul K. McCormick said he tried to have Hauser examined in the county jail last night, but was "hampered by the district attorney."

A jail attendant informed him District Attorney H. Vance Cottom had left orders not to allow an examination unless the prosecution was present.

Defense testimony is now under way for get the hearing being held to determine Hauser's degree of guilt. Hauser pleaded guilty to slaying Anna Elizabeth Dreyer, pretty 17-year-old waitress.

Trying to establish a defense of emotional insanity, McCormick asked witnesses if Hauser acted normally following the slaying.

Decision to Get Together Is Made at Secret Meeting Held In Pittsburgh Wednesday

MURRAY MAKES CALL

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—Representatives of the United States and British governments today signed a loan agreement for American financial assistance to Britain to total $4,400,000,000.

The amount of the loan was published in the British press. In Washington, all official information was withheld for the present.

The signing today, with Treasury Secretary Vinson representing the United States and Ambassador Lord Halifax representing Britain, was not officially announced and the state department declined comment.

Detroit, Dec. 6—(AP)—In the light of a new government wage-price policy, General Motors Corporation prepared to discuss wages with the CIO United Auto Workers today for the first time since the striking union brought virtually all GM operations to a standstill 16 days ago.

The resumption of full negotiations, including the union's demand for a 30 per cent pay raise, followed a secret meeting of General Motors and UAW-CIO representatives at Pittsburgh.

President Philip Murray of the CIO, who called the meeting, said "all points in dispute" would be considered. Walter P. Reuther, UAW vice president and leader of the GM wage fight, later added that the corporation had agreed "there will be no strings attached this time."

General Motors previously had refused to negotiate other issues until what it termed "illegal picketing" had been stopped. Such a practice, the management contended, prevented some 40,000 office workers, in addition to 175,000 strikers, from entering the struck plants.

Reuther and other UAW leaders have expressed the opinion that any contessions gained from General Motors—largest in the auto industry's "big three"—are virtually won for the entire industry.

For this reason, a union spokesman said, some 450 presidents and stewards of Chrysler Corporation locals voted here last night to continue work "for three months, if necessary" despite a breakdown in contract negotiations.

Two Powerful Jap Figures On Criminal List

By MURLIN SPENCER

Tokyo, Dec. 6—(AP)—Two powerful political figures whom many of the Japanese themselves consider among their top war criminals—Prince Fumimaro Konoye and Marquis Koichi Kido—were ordered arrested as war crimes suspects by General MacArthur today.

Seven other men whose activities date back to the imperialistic preludes of the Pacific war also were listed as wanted.

Konoye, the dashing prince, who served as one of Japan's most prized "front men," had been premier three times. Kido, a small, shrewd wirepuller, served as Emperor Hirohito's right hand man throughout the war.

Jittery Tokyo received another shock before it has recovered from MacArthur's announcement. Japanese Communists announced they woudld release on Saturday a list of 1,000 asserted Japanese war criminals,, including the emperor and empress.

In the diet, Premier Kijuro Shidehara declared that his government was in no position to criticize the Allied lists. He said he has no information on how many persons the occupation authorities intended to indict or try.

Kyodo News Agency said that Shidehara's cabinet had received a serious blow when it failed to obtain an Allied reprieve for Prince Morisama Nashimoto, who was named as a war suspect several days ago. Rumors are circulating that the cabinet will be forced to resign at the end of the diet session, Kyodo reported.

FOUR BILLION DOLLAR LOAN FOR BRITAIN

Official Announcement of Agreement Expected To Be Made Simultaneously Tonight

BOON TO WORLD TRADE

By BARTON D. PATTIE

London, Dec. 6—(AP)—A United States loan of $4,400,000,000 to Britain, subject to approval by congress and parliament, was announced today in the British press and was hailed as a boon to world trade.

Official announcement of the agreement, following 12 weeks of negotiations between the two countries in Washington, was expected to be made tonight simultaneously in the two capitals.

The London press said the agreement called for repayment over a 50-year period starting from 1946, and declared no interest would be payable for the first five years. Thereafter, the accounts said, the rate of interest would be 2 per cent—about $88,000,000 the first interest paying year.

None of the London newspapers commented editorially, but the tenor of the prominent headlines given the accounts indicated enthusiastic approval of the agreement both by the conservative and labor press.

London newspapers said the agreement provided that of the total amount of the loan, $650,000,000 would be used in payment for goods in process of delivery to Britain when lend-lease was ended. The papers, quoting their Washington correspondent, said the loan itself—$3,750,000,000—and the $650,000,000 lend-lease aid settlement would be repaid on precisely the same terms.

The dispatch to the Daily Herald said acceptance by the British of the Bretton Woods monetary plan was a condition of the loan, and that "the United States congress will be kept in session to ratify the loan simultaneously with the passage of the Bretton Woods bill by parliament."

Announcement of the agreement came aftre concern had been expressed in official circles here over progress of negotiations. When it had been reported that negotiations were on the brink of complete breakdown, the dispatches said, Sir Edward Bridges, permanent secretary to the treasury, was rushed from Londan to Washington by plane on three hours notice.

Traffic Impeded By Freezing Rain

Pittsburgh, Dec. 6—(AP)—A freezing rain glazed streets and highways in parts of western Pennsylvania today, resulting in numerous traffic mishaps.

Transportation was slowed down. Ice formed on trolley wires causing streetcars to limp along behind schedule. Driving was hazardous because of icy windshields. Many motorists abandoned their cars and sought other ways of getting home.

Fifteen cars skidded together in a single mishap on the Westinghouse bridge on Route 30, the Lincoln highway. Another accident on the Bloomfield bridge involved five cars. No other was hurt in either case.

Highways were reported dangerout in Fayette and Westmoreland counties.

All air traffic was grounded at the Allegheny county airport at 10 o'clock last night.

TOT KILLED BY CAR

Bellwood, Dec. 6—(AP)—Playing tag with his brother and two playmates, seven-year-old Richard Baker darted into the path of an auto and was killed in this Blair county community last night. Coroner Daniel M. Replogle said both the front and rear right wheels of the machine ran over the boy's body.

New York, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Herald-Tribune said today that Joseph P. Lockard, who as a private detected and vainly warned that Japanese planes were approaching Pearl Harbor December 7, 1941, has termed the congressional investigation of the Pearl Harbor attack "asinine."

Lockard, recently given an honorable discharge as a first lieutenant, was reached by telephone at his home in Williamsport, Pa., and the Herald-Tribune quoted him as saying:

"I've been wanting to say this for years. Responsibility can't be pinned on any American. We have lost sight of one important fact—the Japanese were responsible for Pearl Harbor.

"I don't think the investigation is doing our country any good. I don't think it's doing our foreign relations any good either. We're in a very critical period now. The country is far from straightened out. Yet they'll take up the time of dozens of senators investigating something of which the true perspective won't be apparent for at least fifty years.

"I don't see how or why you could blame America. We're not the kind of people the Japs are. We can't anticipate dastardly things. The Japs did it and only the Japs," Lockard said.

Lockard said that he was operating a radar detector on the morning of the Pearl Harbor attack and had located the planes, while they were still 132 miles away.

The radar showed the incoming planes as "little pips jumping off a straight line on the radar screen—indicating aircraft," Lockard said.

On Dec. 7, 1941, Lockard, then 20, and a soldier for a year and a half, was a radar specialist attached to signal corps aircraft warning, Hawaii. With Pvt. George Elliott, he was assigned to radar detection that day from 4 a. m. to 7 a. m.

Lockard told the Herald-Tribune that the island was on "partial alert" then, and that the detectors were closed at 7 a. m. on Sundays and holidays.

Lockard continued that he "saw" the planes at 7:02 a. m., called Elliott, who agreed that a large flight of planes was approaching and then called the information center at Fort Shafter.

The switchboard operator then notified Lt. Kermit A. Taylor. Lockard said Lt. Tyler told him he was expecting a group of B-17s and to "forget it."

Halsey Is Opposed To Merging Forces

Washington, Dec. 6 — (AP)—Fleet Admiral William F. "Bull" Halsey told senators today that the proposed merger of armed forces "is un-AmericanR, undemocratic, and dangerous."

(His prepared statement read "damn dangerous" but the admiral skipped the "damn" as he read it.)

The colorful sea fighter who battled Japs to the gates of Tokyo, appeared before the senate and military affairs committee and opposed legislative proposals for a single postwar department composed of navy, army, and air force branches.

Admiral Halsey said that Russia tried a single defense department long ago and Japan and Germany "also had a navy dominated by the army x x x look where they are now."

"One might just as well ask a committee composed of a protestant, a Catholic, and a Jew to save our national souls by recommending a national church and creed," he said.

Halsey, with Fleet Admiral C. W. Nimitz sitting nearby, testified that "to assume that this 'strange marriage' will bring about greater efficiency is pure bunk."

Long Beach Has Million Dollar Fire

Long Beach, Calif., Dec. 6—(AP)—A raging waterfront fire that damaged two navy vessels and half-destroyed a $1,000,000 outfitting dock was bruoght mostly under control early today after approximately 1,000 men had fought it for three and one-half hours.

The navy C-2 type cargo vessel U.S.S. Extavia and the navy fleet tanker U.S.S. Marias, both laden with fuel oil, were damaged. The Extavia was most seriously burned with much of her superstructure destroyed. E. J. Amar, Long Beach port manager, estimated that damage to the dock, other wharves and the ships might total more than $1,000,000.

No serious injuries were reported but approximately 25 men were treated for burns and suffocation.

Two coast guard fire boats were lost.

KANE-LUDLOW OVER TOP

Tragedy Hangs Over Home of Sailor In Navy

Philadelphia, Dec. 6—(AP)—The black shroud of tragedy today hung over the burned-out home of a Philadelphia sailor, now on duty in the Pacific.

Two-year-old George Blackson and his sister, Vera, 3—children of Seaman 1/c George Blackson—were burned to death last night when fire destroyed their two-story, two-room home while their mother was out buying groceries for dinner.

Matthew J. Acton, 41, a neighbor, was burned trying to rescue the tots.

"I saw the older child rolling around the floor in agony his clothing aflame," he said. "I tried everything I could. I got part way inside but couldn't make it. The flames were too much."

She collapsed wnile watching the flames destroy her home and her young family as firemen and other would-be rescuers stood helplessly by. She was treated at a nearby hospital.

The 1,000-word document carries the approval of party members in both house and senate, who accepted it as an interim Republican statement of aims and purposes.

Its main provisions:

PITTSBURGH'S TAX RATE HITS A RECORD

Pittsburgh, Dec. 6—(AP)—Pittsburgh city taxes reached a new high rate yesterday when council set the levy at 28 mills on land and 14 on building valuations.

This was an increase over last year of three mills and 1.5 mills in the two classifications. Previous highest was 26 and 13 mills in 1930.

Full collection of the levy would bring in $19,367,298. The new millage applies against a total valuation of $960,000,000.

The council vote on the tax boost was unanimous.

COMMITMENT BY PRESIDENT IS DISCUSSED

EVIDENCE IS UNFINISHED

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—General George C. Marshall testified today that early in 1941 he decided "to rob practically all combat pursuit squadrons in the United States of most of their P-40 planes" for the defense of Hawaii.

Marshall, then chief of staff of the army, also told a congressional committee investigating the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor four years ago that he knew of no commitment by President Roosevelt for the United States to go to war before it was attacked.

The matter of sending additional pursuit planes to Hawaii was brought up by Committee Counsel William D. Mitchell.

Mitchell recalled a War-Navy department agreement in early 1941 that attack from the air was Pearl Harbor's No. 1 danger.

As a result of that, Marshall said, he sought "to see what radical measures might be taken to meet to a degree" the needs of the Pacific outpost.

Thirty one P-36's were rounded up, he recalled, leaving most fighter squadrons in the United States with three P-26's each. Marshall said the 31, with the pursuit planes already in Hawaii, brought the total there to 50.

Mitchell questioned Marshall at length about the pre-war Allied conferences, apparently in an effort to clear up contentions that the United States was committed to war before the Japanese struck Hawaii.

A report of some of the conferences was inserted in the record and Mitchell asked:

"Did you ever know of any commitment by the president or anyone else by which the United States was committed to engage in war without being attacked."

"No sir, I did not," Marshall replied.

"Did these conferences contain any commitment for the United States to go to war?"

"No sir," Marshall answered emphatically. "I didn't interpret them as such. They were intended to deal only with possible eventualities."

Mitchell asked whether Marshall knew of any commitment made

Shawmut Co. Miners Will Return Soon

St. Marys, Dec. 6—(AP)—A strike of 350 miners started in mid-July may end late today at a meeting in the office of the Shawmut Mining Co.

At this session, representatives of the Force local of the United Mine Workers will report the result of a union meeting last night when the workers discussed proposals of the two newly-appointed receivers of the company—Richard C. Sproul, Jr., Pittsburgh accountant, and Attorney Thomas C. Buchanan, of Beaver.

If the proposals are satisfactory to the miners, it is expected work in the Proctor Nos. 1 and 2 mines will resume in a few days.

Other points which the miners had insisted be settled before they go back to work were:

1) Reappointment of Dr. Elizabeth Hayes as company doctor. It was her resignation as company physician, in a protest against what she called "intolerable" conditions, which led to the strike.

(2) Elimination of the conditions to which Dr. Hayes objected.

The receivers suggested to the miners they might buy their homes and make their own sanitary arrangements in the Elic county towns of Force, Byrnedale and Hollywood.

Locations for 29 Veterans Hospitals Are Given Approval

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Veterans Administration announced today presidential approval of locations for 29 new hospitals and one new home.

In adidtion, the agency said, Mr. Truman has authorized additions to several existing hospitals, and transfer to the Veterans Administration of seven army general hospitals, five for temporary use.

The locations for new hospitals as approved by the president include:

Philadelphia, 1,000 beds, including 600 beds previously authorized (neuro-psychiatric) Altoona, 200 bens (general medical and surgical); Erie, 200 beds (general medical and surgical); Harrisburg, 200 beds (general medical and surgical).

Gen. Omar N. Bradley, administrator of veterans affairs, was authorized to acquire several army hospitals and to convert them for the temporary use as VA hospitals. They include:

The action virtually completed construction allocations for the VA hospitalization program for estimated requirements until June 30, 1948. There was no estimate as to cost. A construction program, authorized in October, will cost about $158,000,000.

Funds for the new construction program will not be requested until the next fiscal year, beginning July 1, 1946.

STATE COMMITTEES SHOW SMALL BALANCES

Harrisburg, Dec. 6—(AP)—The Republican state committee spent $204,259 during the past year and on Nov. 19 had a bank balance of $24,611 and unpaid debts of $107,334.

David W. Harris, committee treasurer, reported to the state elections bureau yesterday that the bulk of the money expended came from a $137,082 balance left after the 1944 presidential campaign and from contributions totaling $92,787 received during the year.

The debts were listed by Harris as including $88,000 loaned the committee at various times since 1937 by Joseph N. Pew, Jr., and $17,500 loaned the committee in 1943 by Joseph R. Grundy.

In another report received by the elections bureau yesterday the Democratic state committee listed expenses of $18,286 for the year, and receipts of $15,767. The committee had a balance of $3,143 left over the 1944.

Alias Santa Claus Is Glum As Mail Yields But One Check

Alias Santa looked rather glum this morning as he sat running his hand through his whiskers and occasionally whisking a fly from his nose. There really were flies on Alias Santa this morning as the mails only gave up one check for $5 from Connelly's Grocery, on the East Side. He had been looking, we guess, for a regular avalanche of checks and cash.

"Somehow" quoth the old fellow, who has done so much good in years past "that first big splash when the folks sent in a couple of $100 dollar checks, sort of inflated me. But I really think the good folks are going to get busy and send me a lot of money. The only good I can see about this stuff called inflation is when they inflate the Alias Santa fund and thats the tops.

"The need this year is just as great as ever and unless I get a lot of help its going to be tough for a lot of kiddies on Christmas morning. And I know Warren folks don't want that to happen."

And then he took a squint at the lists of givers in former years and muttered "I wonder who will replace Bert Baker, C. C. Miles, Mrs. James Kitchen and some of my other worthy givers on the lists this year."

Snow Flurries Swirl Across Number States In the South

By the Associated Press

Clear, cold weather prevailed over most of the southeast today, after snow had blanketed widespread areas of Alabama and Tennessee and snow flurries had swirled across Mississippi, as far south in Florida as Pensacola, and in North Georgia and the Carolinas.

The pre-winter storm that brought a five-inch snowfall to Nashville, Tenn., interfering with traffic and communications, and left a 12-inch deposit in sections of East Tennessee, was ctentered early today off the North Carolina coast.

A chill rain drenched the Carolinas, Kentucky and Virginia, where a snow a foot deep had been reported yesterday.

The skies over New York were overcast. It was cold in Maine, and freezing or slightly below in southern New England. The mercury hovered at 27 at Hartford, Conn., 30 at Boston.

Postmaster Urges Early Yule Mailing

Postmaster Bell stated today that he is in receipt of an urgent request from the Post Office Department to bring to the attention of the patrons of the Warren Post Office the acute necessity for the early mailing of their Christmas cards, gifts and gift parcels. Due to the shortage of trained postal employees throughout the United States and the difficulties confronting the Nation's transportation systems this request is most imperative and if not complied with the postal service will not be able to arrure the delivery of your gifts and greeting cards in time for Christmas.

The Postmaster also called attention to the following list of last minute dates on which parcels and cards must be dispatched from Warren in order to reach certain sections of the United States for Christmas delivery.

Pacific Coast and Far West States not later than December 8th.

Rocky Mountain and South West States not later than December 10th.

Central, New England and Southern States not later than December 11th.

New York, Eastern Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, December 15th.

Western Pennsylvania, Western New York, December 15th.

Warren County and Local, not later than December 18th.

Postmaster Bell also requested the cooperation of the public in the preparation of their parcels for mailings. Wrap securely. Address plainly and correctly. Separate and tie bundles of Christmas cards for local and out of town dispatch. Insure all parcels, the rate up $5.00 indemnity is only 3 cents.

Good News for a Sailor

Biggest Bucks, Like Biggest Fish, Got Away This Time

Every hunting season one or two good stories are unpacked and the present deer season has brought forth its tale. In a way, this is also a fish story, although the deer is the big feature. Tuesday one of the trucks from the State Hatchery arrived with a load of trout for stocking county streams. Five or six fellows including John Schuler, Frank and Curt Sasserson went out to help plant the fish. The three mentioned had been out hunting on Saturday and Monday without seeing a deer so determined to take their rifles along.

Out to the South Fork of the Tionesta went the truck and the fellows to aid in placing the fish. The truck just drew into position along the stream when some one said "Look at those bucks". And right in the open within a 150 feet of the parked truck and cars stood two of the biggest and finest racked bucks that any of them had seen in years.

The trio hastened to their cars, got out their rifles and loaded them and by that time the bucks had ambled away and departed for parts unknown and the boys—just went on planting fish.

Reports are to the effect that the kill this year despite bad weather has been highly satisfactory and that the animals slain are the finest in years. Most of them have fine racks and are truly a hunts-man's trophy. Perhaps due to the fact that no hunting was enjoyed last year by hundreds of men the bucks had a chance to live and develop for another year.

Old Sports To Discuss Body To Boost Fun

This evening at the Elks Club a group of Warren men will get together in an endeavor to form a club for the purpose of boosting sports of various kinds in the city. The group will not give particular attention to any one sport but will do its best to keep the sports-minded folk of the city up and on their toes for the best in all sports.

Most of the fellows have at one time or another taken part in various sports teams and clubs in the city and should have plenty of experience in putting the pep into the town.

"Rusty" Elliott is one of the prime movers in the formation of the club and he has imbued a lot of other fellows with his enthusiasm for the club formation.

Good News Is Given Men In Draft Call

Inquiry at both of the local draft boards elicits the information that from all indications there will be no call for induction into the United States service until after Christmas. In several towns of this section—Corry and Jamestown calls were received to ship out men on December 20 at Jamestown and December 21st from Corry and Union City. Both boards are endeavoring to have the men held at home until after the holiday.

As yet no quota has been received from December by either of the Warren Draft Boards and no call is expected that will send the boys away before Christmas. If such a call is received the Boards are expected to request a postponement until the Christmas holiday is past.

However both boards have calls for men to go to Harrisburg for pre-induction examinations. These however are not to go until December 27.

The AUTOMATIC Conservator

One of the greatest inventions to come out of the war

1. One filling of the magazine lasts several days in average weather—one filling per day is enough for coldest weather.
2. Burns more of the coal—only a fine ash remains. No muss—ash falls into removable container in dust-tight compartment.
3. Ashes need be removed in handy container only once every few days in normal weather. Produces far less ash than any other stove, because combustion is so complete.
4. It is only 47¼ inches high. Occupies little more than two feet of floor space.
5. Light it once and it will burn all winter without rekindling.
6. Burns graded sizes of anthracite, coke, or bituminous coal—(in bituminous, low volatile bituminous gives best results).
7. It is a circulating heater—not a radiant type—making it possible to keep all of the space it heats at comfortable temperature.
8. The only coal heater with automatic thermostatic control—no dampers to watch. The famous Conservator 3-way Thermostatic Control means less attention.
9. Attractively finished in black porcelain enamel to assure long life. Easy to keep clean and shining. No stove polish needed.

Talk-of-the-Month Club's Membership Drive Under Way

Advance reports on Warren's Talk-of-the-Month Club membership campaign indicate that the drive is well under way. It is the aim of the sponsoring committee to bring to Warren four outstanding authorities on world affairs, one speaker to appear for each of the months of January, February, March and April.

The sponsoring committee consists of 15 members of the following organizations: Men's Bible Class of First Methodist church, YMCA, YWCA, and College Women's Club. Speakers will be heard at Founders Hall, First Methodist church, and membership in the club is limited to 400 persons.

The drive opened Tuesday evening and will continue on Tuesday evening, December 11, with membership rolls open to everyone in Warren and surrounding communities. No memberships are available after the close of the campaign and no single admissions will be accepted at any time. Checks for membership may be mailed to Ralph Wagner at the YMCA or to Mary Church at the YWCA.

At the meeting of the sponsoring committee Tuesday evening, several speakers were discussed and a tentative selection made. From this group the board of directors will make their choice of four to appear in Warren in the coming months.

Selected tentatively were John B. Hughes, top flight Mutual Broadcasting commentator, who gives "News and Views by John B. Hughes"; James L. Wick, editor of Prentice-Hall's weekly news letter, who reports on "What's Happening in Washington"; Cpl. M. Thomas Tchou, former secretary to Chiang Kai-Shek, with up to the minute news of the situation in China; Judge J. M. Baude, famous Boys' Court judge of Chicago, with the topic "I Like Bad Boys"; Welthy Honsinger Fisher, wife of the late "Bishop of India" and now traveling in South America, who will return in February to tell of latest developments in Latin America; Dr. James Bender, who writes frequently for Saturday Evening Post, Good Housekeeping, Coronet and many other publications, and whose talk on "Good Human Relations Are Good Business" is entertaining, as well as intelligently analytical; Dr. William L. Stidger, Boston author, radio speaker and world traveler, who gives in his "Passing Parade of Greatness" personal glimpses of his many friends among the great personalities of the past decade.

Labor Hot Spot Described By A. P. Writer In Capital

By JAMES MARLOW

Washington, Dec. 6—(AP)—This an ABC explanation of the labor hot spot, the hottest spot labor has found itself on in years.

Action to curb unions or strikes seems sure to come out of congress now. But don't bet.

The main heat is in the house. When the house gets through with a bill, the senate has to pass on it. The senate may tone it down.

In congress are three main proposals which have organized labor fighting mad.

No. 1. President Truman asked congress for power to set up a board to find the facts when, because of a labor dispute, there's the threat of a major strike.

Ford 30 days—while the board dug into the records and arguments of a union and a company—workers could not strike.

Neither the board nor the president would have power to force the union or company to comply with the board's finndings. Public opinion would be the compelling force.

This kind of law would be very similar to one which, since 1926, has affected railroads, airlines and their unions. There hasn't been a major strike in those industries since 1926.

But the big three of organized labor—CIO, AFL and the United Mine Workers—are solidly against the president's plan. They want no curb onn their right to strike. They say that weakens unionism.

The president wants his proposal made into law by Christmas. The house labor committee is going to try to rush it through.

No. 2 the May-Arends bill. This would deprive a union—if it struck during the life of a contract which contained a no-strike clause—of its bargaining rights for one year and make it subject to a damage suit by anyone claiming to have been injured by the strike.

No. 3. The Hobbs bill. Rep. Hobbs (-Ala) fathered this one. This bill would make it a crime—punishable by 20 years in jail or a $10,000 fine—to interfere with commerce or trade by highway robbery or extortion.

Hobbs says his bill is aimed at preventing "racketeering," specifically in a case like this:

A farmer, driving produce into a city, is stopped by labor men who force him to pay a certain sum—perhaps the day's wage of a union driver—before he can proceed into town.

AFL President William Green and R. J. Thomas, president of the CIO Autoworkers, yesterday described both measures as savagely anti-labor.

Both bills may be held back to await action on President Truman's proposal.

If there is any delay, then watch for a strenuous effort in congress to get the May-Arends and (or) the Hobbs bills up before the house for debate and vote.

Egg Production Shows Decline

Harrisburg—Although the number of layers on Pennsylvania farms was 15 per cent greater in October than in the previous month, production of 152,000,000 eggs was only 1 per cent over September, due to seasonal declines, the State Department of Agriculture has announced through a survey by the Federal-State Crop Reporting Service. Production for the month of October was 11 per cent below that for the same month last year.

Feed costs are increasing and in some localities corn and wheat for grain feeding are hard to obtain, the department said. Commercial poultrymen report paying this October about 4 per cent more per 100 pounds for feed and receiving about 13 per cent more for eggs per dozen compared with October 1944. Feed costs advanced 1 per cent over September and eggs advanced .013 cents per dozen, causing the egg-feed ration to decline 1 point from September 1. The average price received per dozen was 53.7 cents.

For the first 10 months of 1945 egg production in Pennsylvania was 2,109,000,000, or 13 per cent less than the record production for the same period during 1944.

Reviewing the national poultry and egg outlook, the report said prices received by farmers for eggs in 1946 may be at or near support levels during most months, in contrast to the situation during most of 1945, when prices were at ceilings. All demand factors, except possibly demand for exports, will be weaker in 1946, it was said.

Bathroom Fixtures Need Fat

In order to speed up the production of nylons, soap, fabrics, paint, and other scarce personal and household items, American women will have to intensify their salvage of used cooking fat, according to the Department of Agriculture. Here, Philip Weber, caster at Trenton Pottery Co., Trenton, N. J., fills molds with processed clay. Fats and oils are required in the manufacture of bathroom fixtures like these. Save every drop of used cooking fat. It's now worth four points per pound.

HONOR WELL DESERVED

With the ending of the work of the Warren County Salvage Committee Chairman Wylie T. Corbett was presented with a gold medal by the State Salvage Committee for a good job done. The medal was deserved and Warren county folk who observed the job performed by Mr. Corbett feel that a diamond should also have graced the medal. The award is made by the state for 5000 hours of work, but those familiar with what Mr. Corbett accomplished, feel that he worked nearer 10,000 hours.

He was at his office early in the morning and late at night. His telephone jangled incessantly and he was never too busy to go out and bring in a load of paper in his own car. Long after the collection of tubes for tooth paste and shaving cream came to an end he gathered them up at stores and Warren county sent in thousands of them.

The tin can collections were magnificent and the cars were loaded with care, and many letters of commendation for the fine processing of the cans were received. Metals were salvaged by careful investigation into possible sources by Mr. Corbett personally and the reward was great.

Business principles were applied to the Salvage office and thousands of dollars were returned to the schools, lodges and charities of the county. The canning center was made possible by use of the funds collected by the Salvage Group which paid the bills.

Perhaps no other man in Warren county worked so hard in the war effort as Mr. Corbett and every citizen of this county can well join with the Times-Mirror in paying tribute to his efforts.

Thousands in this section would welcome the introduction in the House of Represenntatives at Washington by Congressman Leon Gavin of a bill setting aside a half million dollars for the creation of recreational facilities in the Allegheny National Forest. The Forestry department has no funds for such works.

Maj. Gen Leslie R. Groves, the atom bomb expert, says the atomic project couldn't have succeeded without the help of 2500 enlisted men, scientists from the Army "who border on genius." Are we to assume, from the case of these border-like noncoms, that it takes authentic genius to achieve the rank of second lieutenant?

Stamp News

By JACK STINNETT

WASHINGTON — I have heard all the stories about delayed mail to the boys overseas—about those GI's who received three months' mail and 150 letters at one time and about those who never received letters or packages at all.

There is, however, another side of the picture. A little over three years ago, I was present in the Post Office Department building when the Army Postal Service was born.

There was a lot of big talk about what the Army Postal Service was going to do. Little of it was as big as what they eventually did do.

* * *

IMAGINE a city of several millions—only New York and Chicago can be mentioned in the same breath and neither has a population that compares with the armed forces mail boxes at their greatest. Imagine these individual mail boxes scattered over the whole world and changing so rapidly that their own commands lost track of them for months and even years.

To answer the incoming and outgoing mail demands of these millions before it was over, the APS established more than 800 postoffices in 55 countries. In March of 1945, these postoffices handled 266,000,000 pieces of mail—more than 50 a month for each soldier overseas. Money orders, at the rate of $55,000,000 a month, with a total well over a billion and a half, were purchased by the men in the services.

In spite of free mailing privileges, the APS sold more than $100,000,000 worth of stamps and stamped envelopes.

By end of the war, 87 per cent of the overseas mail was moving by air. Christmas a year ago, APS handled 60,000,000 overseas gift packages. When V-mail was discontinued Nov. 1, 1945, more than a billion and a quarter letters had been micro-filmed to and from the men in service and as many as 60,000,000 such letters had been sent and received from overseas in a single month.

Although it isn't generally known, APS also had charge of all incoming and outgoing personal cable and radio messages from and to the men overseas. It also handled the world-wide voting program by which men in the fox-holes from Guam to beyond the beaches of Normandy were able to cast their ballots in the 1944 elections.

* * *

"AVERAGE" airmail deliveries were slowest to India-Burma and China, which they reached in 12 and 10 days respectively. New Guinea and Germany were only an average nine airmail days away; and the Philippines, France and Italy only eight.

We all know the stories about the letters and packages that never arrived at all or arrived so late the ink was faded and the paper crumbling to dust. If the APS has reported its figures true, there are better stories than that about the boys who were half way around the world but only a couple of airmail weeks from home sweet home.

County Agent's News

Give High Producing Cows Ample Minerals

Since milk contains minerals, high-producing cows require large amounts of minerals in their feed, reminds County Agent O. C. Tritt.

Corn silage, corn fodder, and grains, he says, are low in minerals. High in minerals which dairy cows need are legume hays, such as alfalfa, clover and soybean.

The amount of minerals required by cows depends upon the kind of roughage used. Cows that eat 20 to 25 pounds of good legume hays a day require little or no additional mineral, while those fed largely on grain, corn silage, or corn fodder need liberal amounts of mineral matter.

Nearly all needed minerals are provided even in the low-mineral feeds, and a simple mineral mixture is all that is needed in addition, according to extension dairy specialists of the Pennsylvania State College.

Minerals usually deficient in dairy feeds are salt, phosphorus, and calcium. Extension dairy specialists say iodine should be added in the northwest section of the State.

Steamed bone meal supplies calcium, phosphorus, and salt. Iodine can be provided in the form of iodized salt. When steamed bone meal cannot be obtained, di-calcium phosphate may be substituted.

Superphosphates and phosphate rock have been found to contain impurities, some of them harmful, and should not be fed to cattle. Commercial mineral mixtures have been found valuable for the steamed bone meal, or di-calcium phosphate and salt they contain. Dairymen are advised to study the analysis carefully before purchasing.

Put the bone meal and salt in separate boxes where the cows may serve themselves. If they can get it every day or two they will satisfy their needs.

For cows kept in the stall the grain may include the salt at about one per cent of the grain mixture, and bone meal or di-calcium phosphate may be added to the grain mixture at the rate of one or two per cent (by weight) of the grain mixture.

Young calves also need minerals, and, like cows, can show the lack of it in loss of appetite, a rough condition of hide and hair, or a depraved appetite which leads them to eat clay or chew on wood, bones, or iron.

Some out-of-state areas have been found where certain feeds have lacked minerals needed by cattle, but extension dairy specialists report no such conditions are known to prevail in any area in Pennsylvania.

Kiwanis Hears Of Proximity Fuse Secrets

Now it can be told might be the theme of his remarks, since his talk dealt with one of the war's most closely guarded secret, the proximity fuse, rated second in importance, and that only in some circles, to the atomic bomb in bringing the war to an end.

Mr. Jones began with the situation in 1939, when militarists relied chiefly upon two types of fuses for exploding shells: The contact fuse, which fired only on contact with the target, and the time fuse, pre-set to explode at a given distance from the muzzle of the gun. Either or both of these, he said, was still pretty much guesswork and a search was started to find something foolproof. Radar was not yet fully developed and increasing air speeds made necessary some new device.

The proximity fuse, perfected by Sylvania engineers and produced by them only, was the answer. This particular fuse, designed to explode the shell when it came within 50 feet of plane, ground or water, was part of a miniature radio-like device built into the nose of the shell and operable at 450 feet from the muzzle. For a period of about three and one-half years, it was used only over water in order that the enemy might not learn its secret. Later is was used, according to the speaker in defeating buzz bomb attacks, as a last resort in the Battle of the Bulge and, still later, against Jap low level attacks. Producing as many as 460,000 daily in its various plans, portions of the proximity fuse were made in the local Plant No. 2.

Announcement was made at yesterday's meeting that the club will provide a special evening's entertainment for residents of the Rouse Hospital prior to Christmas, the planning to be in charge of George Seavy.

Members Baker, Arbogast and Carlson were named as an auditing committee.

FARM NEWS

By LEONARD A. UNGER

Harrisburg, Dec. 6—Ever eat fried turkey?

It's delicious, a department of agriculture expert said today, especially when cut-up pieces are simmering in a covered pan or skillet, or stewed before frying.

Experiencing success during the Thanksgiving season with "split" birds, or turkeys cut in half for small families, families and dealers were expected by the department to sell cut-up turkey just as chickens have been sold for some time, in cut-up pieces by weight and prices according to choice of cuts.

E. J. Lawless, Jr., in charge of poultry and egg marketing activities in the department, said he anticipated the demand for "split" and "cut-up" turkeys may become year round, adding encouragingly:

"Many Pennsylvania growers acquired poults during most of the summer months so that a good supply of young turkeys will extend into next spring."

More than 20 statewide agricultural associations have already made plans to participate in the annual state farm show week educational meetings here next Jan. 22, 23, and 24, secretary of agriculture Miles Horst announced today.

The sessions, however, will be conducted without the added attraction of exhibits and contests in the big farm show building which the army has occupied for the past four years.

A number of farm organizations open meetings on Tuesday, Jan. 22, including the Pennsylvania growers association, state horticulture Association, Pennsylvania Crop Improvement Association, Future Farmers of America, Pennsylvania Christmas Tree Growers Association, Herford Cattle Breeders Association and the various swine breeders' associations.

On the following day, sessions will be held by the society of Farm Women of Pennsylvania, the Aberdeen-Angus Breeders Association, Pennsylvania Dairymen's Association, Guernsey Breeders Association, Pennsylvania Holstein Association, Pennsylvania Jersey Cattle Club, Pennsylvania Livestock Breeders Association, Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers Association, State Beekeepers Association and the Pennsylvania Poultry Federation.

With travel restrictions lifted, secretary Torst, also chairman of the state farm commission, anticipates an attendance of up to 8,000 farm people.

Clusters in the Erie fruit belt, were most are grown, were small and straggly, with many cracked and shelled berries.

A preliminary survey made this month showed a preliminary estimate of 6,000 tons of grapes for the 1945 crop. This production is less than one-third of the 1944 crop of 195,000 tons and is 11,590 tons below the average for the 10-year period, 1934 to 1943.

Flying Rice Patrol for Hungry Malayans

RICE IS "THE STAFF OF LIFE" of the people of Asia, and the years of the Jap occupation have left many places short of this essential food. Some of these villages in Malaya cannot be reached by heavy trucks and to these a regular "rice patrol" is flown by the giant Sunderland flying-boats of the British Air Force. The inhabitants have been given regular ration books by the British which are clipped when they get their weekly three-pounds supply. This is half the amount Malayans usually eat but they eke it out with fish and fruit until their regular supplies begin again. This picture shows the natives of Kuantan in boats crowding round one of the British planes to get their rice.

BROADWAY

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK — Frank Sinatra, who has been looked upon in many quarters as a curiosity which couldn't possibly last, has definitely scotched that sort of attitude and now, during his current personal appearances in New York, is proving that he is an assured, capable entertainer and not just a sudden bobby-sockers' enthusiasm.

In his appearances at the Paramount Theater and at the Waldorf - Astoria's fashionable Wedgewood Room, Sinatra is playing to two distinctly varied audiences. . . . At the Paramount, of course, he is working to the bobby-sox clientele in all their shrieking, uninhibited glory. . . . His style of singing is the same but his new role of master of ceremonies is slightly different from the one he uses at the Waldorf.

• • •

IN HIS hotel appearances, Frank is convincing the older fans that he not only sings a swell song but has intelligence, assurance, good humor and a modesty which isn't merely a convenient public modesty but the real thing. . . . Frankie Boy has made a good many friends by these personal showings . . . and by the manner in which he has arranged them.

Back when he was just a kid band singer, Frank became friendly with Dick Stabile, one of the finest saxophone players in the swing business who had just started an orchestra and was heading for the top brackets. . . . The war came along as Stabile was becoming a radio and juke box favorite and he had to give up his career just like all other healthy young American guys. . . . He spent almost four years in the Coast Guard

When he got out, Stabile was sitting in an agent's office one day, trying out his new tweeds after wearing Coast Guard blue for so long and hoping the world and this agent in particular hadn't forgotten him too completely. . . . The door opened and a skinny fellow walked in, saw Dick and threw his arms around him . . . it was Sinatra, then preparing for his New York appearances. . . . The Voice brought Stabile into the agent's office and on the spot hired him to lead the orchestra at the Waldorf date.

Sinatra's pianist is a good looking, grinning blonde fellow named "Stitch" Henderson, also a friend of less solvent nays who, too, is just out of service after piloting bombers overseas. . . . The Voice, unlike many other sudden bigtimers, has kept his friends around him and now that he's a success, intends to keep them with him so long as he retains his popularity.

• • •

FOR his Waldorf appearances, Sinatra has the largest band ever seen in a Manhattan hotel on a regular, every-night basis. . . . It is a veritable jazz symphony, with sixteen strings, full sax and brass choirs and such uncommon instruments for popular singing accompaniment as a harp, oboe, french horns and bassoon. . . The effects thus possible provide remarkably smart music of a sort seldom encountered in a saloon floor show.

A proposed $375,000,000 federal aid program for erection of 3000 new airports in the United States is expected to do for aviation what development of good highways in this country did for automobiles.

Senior Class At Youngsville Will Present Comedy

"The Winding Road," a threeeact comedy-drama by Lillian Mortimer, will be presented by the senior class of Youngsville High School at 8 p. m. Wednesday and Thursday, December 12 and 13, in the school auditorium.

The cast which is working hard during its three weeks intensive rehearsal period, under the direction of Miss Helen Zahniser and Mrs. Grace Lewis, includes the following students: Don Armitage, Lorraine Bogren, Helen Caldwell, Ruth Carlson, John Chitester, Ruth Cooper, John Donaldson, Sherwood Fleming, Sparkie Rhoades and Ronny Thompson. Charlotte Sandberg is prompter and Jean Bogert, as business manager, is in charge of class committees handling production of the play.

The seniors, producers last spring of the popular Jones family comedy,, "Almost Summer," are anticipating another highlight in Y. H. S. play production. With its Christmas setting and its story of youthful romance and intrigue, "The Winding Road" offers a particularly excellent entertainment for the pre-holiday season.

Catholic Women Planning Party

Catholic Daughters of America, Court 834, held its regular meeting at eight o'clock Wednesday evening in the K. of C. clubrooms, with the grand regent, Mrs. W. E. Cooney, presiding.

Plans were completed for the Christmas party to be held at 8 p. m. Wednesday, December 12, in the same clubrooms. All members are asked to bring a gift for the grab bag and a silver offering for the Benedictine Sisters' Christmas shower. Mrs. Frank Gerardi, Mrs. Ray Tesser, Mrs. C. P. Miller are in charge of arrangements for the affair.

The attendance prize for last evening went to Mrs. Joseph Massa. To conclude the evening, refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. M. Prigent, Miss Stella Cerra and Miss Eleanor Harrington.

Moose Women Busy With Plans

Last night's meeting of Warren Chapter, 693, Women of the Moose, was preceded by an executive session at 7:30 o'clock and a spaghetti supper served at six.

The chapter extended a welcome to Mary Lauffenberger, just returned from overseas service with the armed forces and honorably discharged from the Women's Army Corps.

A box was packed for Mooseheart and jams and jellies were collected for the hospital chairman.

The annual Christmas party was planned for December 19, when all co-workers are asked to bring a 25-cent gift for exchange. The group will join the men's lodge on December 21 for the big Christmas party, when children of the Hoffman Home are guests of the order.

To The Ladies

You'd think when Santa Claus has so many pressing engagements at this busy time of year his shoulders would be bowed low with care and woe—but just the opposite is true. Always a jolly fellow, with an eye out to the happiness of others, the delight so apparent in the accompanying sketch is occasioned by his receipt of the news that Warren Council, 563, United Commercial Travelers, has completed its plans for "Ladies' Night" and has requested his presence at the party. The date is Wednesday, December 12, and the time set for serving the turkey dinner is 6:30, sharp. Dress will be informal, according to the committee, which also advises of Santa's acceptance to be present with a treat for all concerned. The entertainment committee has perfected plans for an evening of fun and is anticipating a big turnout of Travelers and their ladies. Each one attending is asked to bring a gift, not to exceed 50 cents and to be plainly marked whether for lady or gentleman, since an exchange will be part of the planned schedule. Since the committee must know in advance for how many to prepare, the reservation cards are to be returned no later than Monday, December 10.

WARREN GRANGE PLANS FOR PARTY

Holding their regular meeting last evening, members of Warren Grange made plans for a Christmas party in conjunction with the next regular meeting on December 19. All those having children are asked to bring them to the party and, if possible, to have them participate in the program with a reading, recitation, poem, song, etc. Children will bring 10-cent gifts for a grab bag and adults will exchange 25-cent gifts. There will also be a lunch served by the committee and adult members are asked to bring cookies to aid those in charge.

Routine business last night included balloting on candidates and reading of communications. To conclude, lunch was served.

PLEASANT UNIT

The December meeting of Pleasant PTA was conducted by President Alice Kightlinger, members voting to postpone the January meeting until the 8th. At that time the finance committee will award the Victory Bond. A "white elephant" sale is also planned for the near future.

At the close of the business session, Mrs. Jerry Archibald, as guest speaker, told the story of various Christmas carols and then these were sung by Girl Scouts of Troop 51, with Joyce Beebe at the piano. Serving of lunch closed the evening's entertainment.

Ekdahl Home Was Damaged In Bad Fire

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Williard Ekdahl, at Chandlers Valley, was badly damaged by fire Tuesday afternoon and the loss will be quite heavy as the upper portion of the home was badly damaged.

The fire started near the chimney of the dwelling and an alarm was sounded with many neighbors and the Sugar Grove fire department making a fast run. The firemen battled the fire, which was a stubborn one, while neighbors moved out all of the household goods. After some time the fire was extinguished without the flames reaching to the first floor, but the upper portion of the home was badly damaged and the roof suffered greatly.

Mr. and Mrs. Ekdahl have moved into the parsonage of the Lutheran church until repairs can be made to their home. The loss was partially covered by insurance.

At the time of the fire Miss Elsie Latt, who was caring for a young son of the Ekdahls, was alone in the house. Mr. Ekdahl was on his way home from the Chandlers Valley school, where he is principal, and Mrs. Ekdahl was at the Warren General Hospital with her four-year-old daughter, who suffered a broken leg while she was coasting last Saturday.

Accent On Romance Is Paris Word

By ROSELLEN CALLAHAN
NEA Staff Correspondent

There are two schools of thought about the evening silhouette in Paris. One says it must be romantic, with billowing skirts, and demurely covered shoulders. The other insists formal frocks be figure molding. Both agree about one thing, however—the dinner gown is an absolute "must" in every wardrobe.

LESSON NO. 1—EXTRA TRICKS COUNT PLENTY

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
America's Card Authority

While there are millions of bridge players in the United States, only a small percentage of them participate in tournament bridge. However, I predict that tournament bridge will become the country's greatest pastime. It is one of the few games in which young and old can compete on an equal basis.

The tournament bridge player must learn that the extra trick counts. In today's hand, the drop of the cards is particularly important. The opening lead is won by declarer with the club king, and both the queen and ten of hearts fall on the ace and king. Now the question is, where are the queen of diamonds and the king of spades?

South cashes the ace of clubs and starts to run off the hearts. On the heart nine, East discards a club; on the seven he lets go the deuce of diamonds, and on the six, the three of spades.

Then comes the five of hearts. If East lets go the four of spades, south knows he is protecting diamonds. With the play of the heart deuce, East has to make a choice. If he throws the six of diamonds, he is obviously trying to protect the spade king. But dropping the three of spades and later discardinf diamonds, he practically tells declarer that he holds the king of spades and the queen of diamonds.

The Fourth Mrs. Baker

By Ernestine Adams — AP Newsfeatures

Chapter 19

[Monday 7:37 p.m. to 9:40 p.m.]

SHE was trembling so when she entered the cold room that she had to clench her teeth to keep them from chattering. Inspector Venable and the man he called Brown accompanied her. An attendant pulled out one of the long drawers which lined the room and began to remove the cover when the Inspector stopped him.

"This isn't going to be a pleasant sight, Mrs. Baker, but I hope you can tell me if it is the woman you saw."

She tried to steel herself against the shock. She nodded without trying to speak.

The cloth was lifted. Even if she had known what they looked like she could not have recognized the smashed features. But the long blonde hair, which she could see now was dyed, brought the vision of loose curls waving toward the errant red hat.

She fought the nausea that threatened her. She couldn't let the Inspector see her being a sissy. Lightness swirled through her head and merciful unconsciousness came to her rescue. As from a far off cloud she felt the Inspector's arms about her — she hadn't the smallest doubt about whose arms they were—and knew nothing more.

The pungent odor of ammonia was the first thing her senses recognized. Then she saw the white uniformed woman who held the cotton.

"That's better," the woman said.

"Let's have some in water," came the Inspector's voice.

Julia drank and felt better.

"I'm dizzy because I haven't had anything to eat," she apologized.

"When did you eat last?" The Inspector bent over her.

"Breakfast, I think," she told him meekly.

She was strong enough to powder her nose with some care and retouch her lips

Resolutely she pushed aside the image of a woman with blonde hair who had stepped so lightly across the street two days ago.

INSPECTOR VENABLE put her in a taxi and directed the driver to an Italian restaurant. She felt weak but somewhat composed as if the mounting horror that filled her had reached the saturation point and nothing more could touch her.

"I let Harman know you were with me. He was worried," the Inspector said after they were seated at a small table with a spotless white cover over a red checked table cloth. He gave an order to the round-faced waiter and red wine and minestrone appeared almost instantly. Filling their glasses he kept on talking while she ate.

He talked of everything but murder while Julia consumed food—soup, spaghetti, veal fried in cheese, green salad with wine vinegar dressing and, finally, tortoni. Color came back into her cheeks and her eyes grew brighter. With renewed strength came fresh courage to face this last fantastic tragedy and to guard against the man opposite her who had a way of pushing through her defenses.

She accepted a cigarette and leaned forward for a light. After a drag, she asked, "Who is she?"

"I don't know." He at least didn't try to evade her.

"Then why—"

"She fell from the sixteenth story of the Janis Hotel about seven o'clock on the night your husband was killed. There was nothing to identify her. The peculiar thing, was that she had no hat. There was none in her hotel room and she certainly had none on when she fell. A porter noticed that she wore a red hat when she went out in the afternoon and some one else saw her come in without it. When the ad appeared it was immediately connected with this unidentified woman—not, of course, with the Baker case."

"My pictures must flatter me," she said smiling.

"They can't—" he caught himself and went on crisply. "When Brown went to pick up whoever came for replies he brought you in. You should have told me about the incident."

"I didn't think of it until later and it seemed to me if I could find the woman perhaps I would know more."

"Did you think she might be involved?"

The question was one she had been trying to avoid. She wasn't going to tell him about the certificate or he might feel he didn't need a confession. Robey had tricked her into a marriage and if she had found that it wasn't legal it gave her a formidable motive.

"Because I saw my husband give her some money and he was very close with money. And, another thing, Moore often left the latch off when he stepped out for a short time so he need not be bothered about unlocking the door. He might have done it when he went for the medicine for Jerry."

"You thought the woman in the red hat might have come in?"

"I didn't know."

"She wouldn't have answered your ad if she had."

"I had to try." A thought struck her. "Why would she commit suicide?"

"She didn't." said Venable positively.

Julia's heart started a hard, painful throbbing and panic spread through her.

"There wasn't a thing left to identify her—no letters, no labels in her clothing, no laundry marks. There was only some silver change in the red purse and a compact and handkerchief. She left no note—which most suicides will do. My theory is that the killer gave her a blow which produced unconsciousness—there was no trace of drugs—and then went over the room carefully before he pushed her out of the window and escaped. He evidently took the money Baker gave her and everything that might have pointed to any connection with him."

"You think it was a man?"

"It could have been a woman."

"And there is no clue?"

"You have given me an important one. I am convinced that whoever killed the woman with the red hat also murdered Robey Baker."

Sheffield, Dec. 4—The Sheffield High School Basketball boys are busy getting in shape for the opening game with Tionesta High School, Friday evening. This will be a double header with the junior varsity starting at seven o'clock. Varsity game at eight o'clock. The team this year will be built around the two lettermen from last year, with Captain David Eisenhauer, Mike Trubic will play forward positions. The center position will be filled by Steffan and Swanson, both players on Varsity team last year. The guard positions will probably be Kraft, Habzda, Hoden or Wolfe. Other two forwards who are trying for positions on the first team are Dick Grubbs and Steve Eisenhauer.

The Junior Varsity team will be made up of the following players: Chalmers, Donick, Bower, Dorotics, Henry, Howarth, Labesky, McManigle, Shick, Simko and Potter.

The season tickets are on sale and may be secured from High School students or the office at a dollar and half and three dollars. This will include all the High School home games for the season which will include nine home games. Following the opening game the boys will journey to Mt. Jewett Tuesday evening with a game with the Magicians. The second home game will be December 18 with Ludlow as their opponents.

DRAMATIC CLUB

Sheffield's annual play "Lights Out", a myster-comedy in three acts by Paul S. McCoy proved an outstanding success with a large attendance in the High School auditorium last Thursday evening. The characters were played by Ruth Okerberg, Dorothy Fitzgerald, Tom Hobzda, Jean Jones, Marjorie Hover, Charles Shick, Bonell Jones, Elliott Potter, Bob Kraft, Donna Carlberg and Jerry Gibson.

LONG ON SCHOOL BOARD

C. H. Whittaker, merchant, completed eighteen years service as a member of the Sheffield Township Board of Education. He has been president for the past ten years. Monday night's board meeting, the following members were elected: President Harold Stover, vice president, W. W. McMillen, secretary, L. B. Jones; treasurer, James Mong, secretary to the board, Miss Mae Swanson, the new member of the board was present at the meeting, Mrs. Grace Fitzgerald.

THE STATE POLICE SAY:

When driving, remember that there are four cars which you must watch out for—your own, the one in front of you, the one behind you, the one around the bend in the road or coming down the side street which you can't see. You can't control the other fellow's car or his decisions. Therefore, make allowances for them.

Reconnaissance photographs in color during the war showed the slight but vital difference between living foliage and the branches cut for camouflage.

Garden Club Staged Party At Youngsville

Youngsville, Dec. 5—Brokenstraw Valley Garden Club enjoyed a delightful dinner meeting Tuesday evening, Dec. 4th at the home of Mrs. Mirtie Kay and Mr. and Mrs. Roy McDowell. Between thirty and thirty-five were in attendance. A turkey dinner with all the fixings was the first feature. A turkey weighing sixteen pounds was roasted by Mrs. Kay and was a surprise to most of the members. Tables pleasingly decorated with Christmas greens and red candles were arranged through the house and dinner was served in buffet style—from the dining room table. An interesting contest in arranging Christmas greens was conducted by the president.

The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. C. G. Johnson, and opened with a roll call to which the response was the naming of Christmas songs.

A program committee to prepare the program for the coming year consisting of Mrs. R. C. Bailey, Mrs. Carr and Mrs. Grogin was appointed by the president.

Several guests were present and one new member joined the club. The program was conducted by the men of the club, the first feature was an instrumental selection by Joe Davis and Frank Black with Mrs. Davis accompanist on the piano.

The second feature was a one act play "Mr. Johnston" with the characters, Jack Wood (Ross Bailey); Bill Martin (James Hamilton); Mr. Johnston—(Mr. Carlson); Tony, Man of all works—Frank Black); The Sheriff; (C. C. Johnston). Mr. Stillings directed the play.

The play was very amusing and caused much merriment. Those taking part seemed to enjoy the fun as well as the audience.

The closing feature was some very clever magic tricks under the skillful direction of Mr. Craft. The January meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Streeter, Tuesday, Jan. 1, 1946, and will be a truly New Years gathering.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hendrickson of Bates street entertained last Wednesday evening at a lovely six o'clock dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Hendrickson and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hendrickson's wedding anniversaries. Guests present included Mrs. Tilda Hendrickson, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Jones and son, Warren; Mrs. Warren Hendrickson, Mrs. Fred Wermyth and son Freddie, Carl Swartz and the honor guests.

Gov. Martin Appeals For Victory Loan

In a statement Governor Martin said:

"The need for every American to buy the maximum amount of bonds possible is just as urgent now as at any time since the day of the infamous attack on Pearl Harbor, almost four years ago, and it is the duty, privilege and responsibility of the citizens of Pennsylvania to attain complete success in the Victory Loan Drive.

"The Federal Government needs the funds from Victory bonds to help pay the cost of the care of our war wounded, of the maintenance of ouh forces of occupation in Germany and Japan and of other final expenses of the war, so that in this way we may lay the foundation for lasting peace by keeping America strong.

"The seven day period from December 2 to December 8, 1945, inclusive, has been designated as 'Victory Loan Week' throughout Pennsylvania. Every man, woman and child is urged not only to buy E bonds to the utmost of their financial ability but also to stimulate additional sales among others.

"Let us 'finish the job' of war financing and thus fittingly commemorate our total triumph over the Germans and the Japanese and show our gratitude and thankfulness to our compatriots in the armed forces."

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes show there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

State G. O. P. To Discuss Slate At New York Banquet

Harrisburg, Dec. 6—(AP)—There will be plenty of good old-fashioned Republican "politicking" at the Pennsylvania Society dinner in New York Saturday, but the ticket-making for 1946 will come later.

"Nothing will be decided until Governor Martin says what he is going to do," one high-ranking GOP leader predicted today. "That won't come until after the holidays."

Martin has been boomed by some GOP leaders for the party nomination for the U. S. senate to oppose Senator Joseph F. Guffey, Democrat, next November.

Martin's friends indicated the executive's private wish is to retire to a "well-earned rest" after he completes his term in January, 1947, but no one will predict what his final decision will be.

More than a dozen potential candidates for governor or other places on the GOP slate will be among the nearly thousand guests expected at the dinner.

But all the talk so far, one GOP leader explained, hinges on the belief that Martin will decide in the end to run for the senate.

"If he says he will not run, that will throw the field wide open for both senator and governor," the leader asserted.

The dinner program calls for addresses by General Henry H. Arnold, army air forces chief, and Admiral Ernest J. King, retired chief of naval operations. Martin will introduce both speakers.

Arnold has been mentioned as a potential choice for governor by Republicans, but the Montgomery county native said "I must regret it does not fit into my plans for the future."

Other military figures listed in GOP circles as gubernatorial possibilities include Col. Jay Cooke, of Philadelphia, and Col. Daniel Strickler, of Lancaster, both of whom saw active service overseas in World War II.

Outside of official Harrisburg, others mentioned for governor include Senators Weldon B. Heyburn, Delaware county, and O. J. Tallman, Lehigh county; former Governor Arthur H. James, Plymouth; Dr. Ralph Cooper Hutcheson, new president of Lafayette College, and Chief Justice George Maxey of the state supreme court. James also has been mentioned for the U. S. senate.

Former Senator James J. Davis also is reported to be sounding out friends again in connection with next year's campaign, with the aim of gaining support for U. S. senator or governor.

In the days of Richard II, steaks, chops, etc., were never used but fish, flesh, fowl were chopped, minced or hacked into pieces and served as soups, potages, ragouts, stews or hashes.

A new spray has been developed which kills weeds among vegetables at a cost of less than $12 per acre, as compared with about $60 for hand-pulling methods.

Under French law, 14th century butchers could deal in one type of meat only and could sell it only under natural light; sales by candle light or lamp light were taboo.

Air for the Navy

Progress toward development of an "air Navy" is seen in Secretary Forrestal's announcement that Adm. John H. Towers, above, an air officer now head of the Fifth Fleet, "eventually" will replace Adm. Raymond A. Spruance as commander in chief of the Pacific Fleet. Naval aviators will hold more fleet commands and more top posts in Washington under the new policy.

Robert Taylor Wonders If Fans Still Remember Him

By BOB THOMAS

"It's been a long time since I was on the screen," he told me. "Song of Russia" was the last one, and that was three years ago. That's why I'll like to get back to work as soon as possible." He said he would probably be broke if his wife, Barbara Stanwyck, hadn't been working.

I saw Bob in his MGM dressing room, which he was trying to tidy up. His build hasn't changed—he lost only four pounds in the navy—but his face has a much more rugged appearance. And his voice seems much deeper, almost a bass. He is considering a story called "You Were There," which would be a departure for Bob. "I would play a 10-karat heel," he said.

Producer Louis de Rochemont is preparing a movie which he thinks will be 10 times as exciting as his recent thriller, "The House on 92nd Street."

It's an untitled story of the office of strategic services, the "cloak and dagger" men of the recent war, although they don't like that title. They're the men (and women, by the way, who performed espionage work in enemy territory. Rochemant told me his writers were having trouble sifting the amazing stories of OSS men into a believable screen play.

The producer intends to film the picture in the same manner as "92nd Street." For Washington shots he will go to Washington. For the invasion of France he will go to Omaha Beach, or a reasonable replica. He said melodrama cannot be believable unless its backgrounds are the real thing. That's a revolutionary theory in this town of paper buildings and painted skies.

While guesting on Art Linkletter's afternoon "house party" show, I learned about his latest stunt for "People Are Funny." A contestant will fly 150 miles over the Pacific ocean and there drop 12 plastic containers. The containers tell the finder to contact Linkletter immediately and receive $1,000 if the first one. The contestant in the meantime gets a dollar a day until the grand is claimed. I'll be out there with my paddleboard.

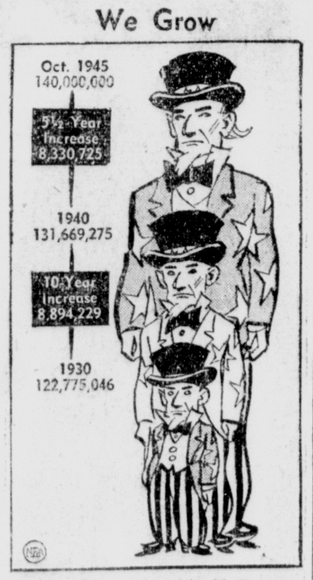
We Grow



The rapid increase in U. S. population is shown on chart above. About Oct. 1, says the Bureau of Census, Uncle Sam's family passed the 140,000,000 mark. Last official census was 1940, and in the five and a half years since then, the population has increased almost as much as it did in the 10 years previous.

Socialized Medicine Theme Of Social Science Speaker

For the second monthly meeting of the Social Science Section for this season, Dr. Gail K. Ridelsperger presented a very interesting talk on "Socialized Medicine."

He began by defining the terms Collectivism, Communism, Socialism, Fascism and Naziism, saying this seemed necessary to establish the fact that Socialism and Communism are based on the individual's doing that work for which he is best suited and in returning receiving that which he needs to live, which is comparable with the capitalistic system, wherein the individual's reward is based on the value of his work.

His next step was to clarify the subject of insurance, which is, basically, "spreading a known and calculable risk of not too common nature over a great number of individuals". Insurance ceases to have value, he said, when applied to a too common risk, something that would probably happen to all people. Since it costs money to administer an insurance company, he continued, it can be plainly seen that insurance for common ailments would not be practical. Insurance which has been provided in the past, and is most commonly thought of, is in reality indemnity insurance.

The speaker continued by saying that with the advent of hospitalization, a new type of insurance came into being, "service insurance". This he described as prepayment of service to be rendered. In this type of insurance, the insured is not guaranteed a certain, fixed sum of money for certain misfortunes, but, rather, is promised that his hospital bill will be better taken care of. In other words, not remuneration but service is guaranteed.

In guaranteeing such service, the hospital service association must have its guarantee from the hospitals that they will provide the necessary service. Thus, the two must draw up a contract between them and in most cases the service association sets the terms to be paid the hospital for certain specific work done. Thus it will be seen that the service association stands as a third party between the patient and the hospital.

Socialized medicine, he stated, would work much the same way, in that the service association is standing between the doctor and his patient and sets the terms upon which a doctor must work and the patient shall be cared for. It is apparent, he said, that this eliminates the element of individual initiative from the doctor's work and makes him merely the pawn of the service association. "Under this plan the doctor's work is controlled by an outside force which seems leading toward socialism," stated the doctor, "and this we do not want. It is not the basis upon which the strength of our country is based. We have progressed because individual initiative has been recognized and repaid".

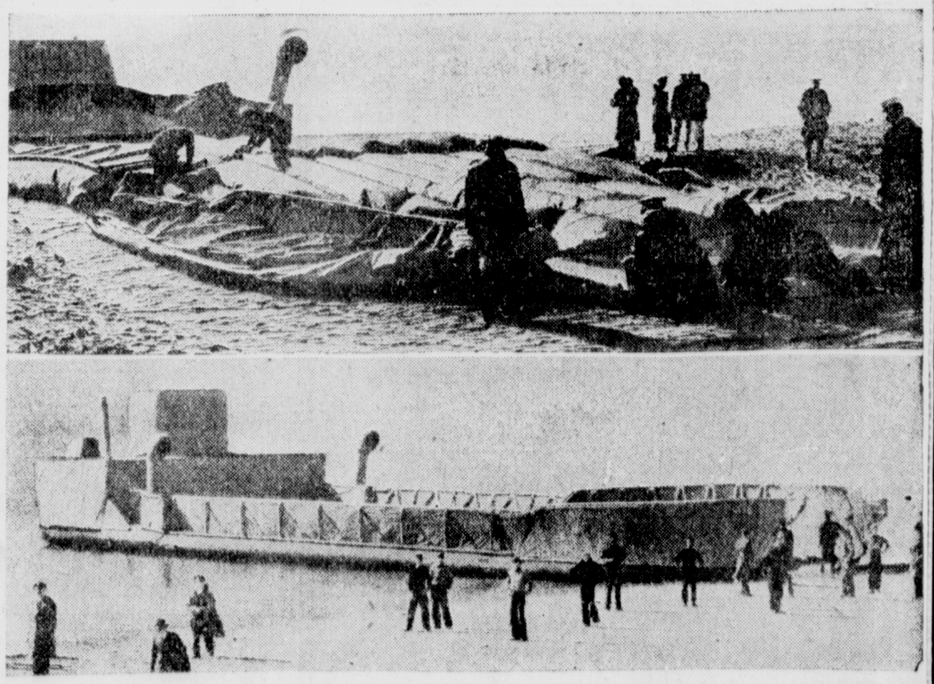
FRUITS OF GOOD EARTH

Orange consumers have been familiar with California's fruit for years but few realize that the crop of 1940 was valued at 48 millions while that of 1944 brought 154 millions, an increase of 224 percent. Potato growers tripled their output and peaches jumped from a 10 million dollar harvest to 41½ millions. Small crops like prunes and apricots had several hundred percent increase. For years California soil will help feed the world and add to the Nation's wealth behind War Bonds. U. S. Treasury Department

'Illusionary' War Revealed Against Nazis



Just released is one of the most fascinating stories of World War II—a story of an "illusionary war" which aided in bringing the enemy to his knees. It involved the use of rubberized fabric and canvas which, when cut to pattern and inflated, assumed the appearance of weapons vital to the Allied attack. Among the most important of such weapons was the simulated Landing Craft, Tank, fashioned in Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company plant at Akron, O., which is pictured above. Top photo shows the parts assembled and in the process of inflation. Bottom photo shows the inflation complete, the result being a craft which, to enemy observers, had all the appearance of an LCT. These were used effectively to confuse the Nazis as to the date and scene of the D-Day attack. They also drew enemy fire and diverted enemy attention so as to ease the D-Day task.

Laborites Are on Trial In England, MacKenzie States

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP World Traveler

London—England's naw socialist government naturally is being viewed in varying lights, but one finds the opinion widely expressed even among conservatives that the big labor majority in the house of commons is an extremely bright and active body of men and women.

Indeed, I heard it characterized by a conservative parliamentary expert of great experience as the best-informed house ever elected. Be that as it may, it certainly is keen and active, as your columnist team found upon attending yesterday's session.

I asked Mrs. Mac what her outstanding impression was and she laughingly replied that she was overwhelmed with the scotch accent. Well, it must be admitted that it was pretty thick, for there are a lot of Scots in the house and we struck a period of questions about Scottish affairs. The queries and answers had a burr that you could cut with a knife. Personally I haven't heard so much undiluted Scotch since the days when grandma used to sing to us youngsters in Gaelic, and grandpa would gather the family about him on their knees and pray in the highland tongue for a solid hour while he instructed the Lord on the affairs of good Presbyterians.

Thus far the conservative opposition, of which former Prime Minister Churchill is leader, has had little to say. Yesterday they sat largely in silence, regarding the Laborites with the tolerant disbain which a mastiff might direct toward a Mexican hairless pup. Whether this attitude has been an exhibition of tolerence or of impotence remains to be seen. Having watched the great Churchill in action in commons for many years at close range, I can hardly believe he won't stage an offensive in due course. There are reports that the Conservatives are getting set for an attack.

In any event, the Socialists (of Laborites, if you wish—they themselves use both designations) are on trial in a big way before not only their conservative opponents but the entire country. Here it is important to note that the Socialists received a very large vote (especially middle-class) from other political parties, including the Conservatives.

It is significant that the elections for individual vacancies in commons (they call them by-elections) have continued to return Laborites. The same has been true of many municipal elections. This means that the result of the general election wasn't a matter of snap judgment, but that the country is determined to find out whether the labor party program can bring better days to England.

The task which the Socialists have before them is one which tax the abilities of any parliament. England today is facing the greatest peace-time problems she has entered in modern history. Indeed, the vast task of rehabilitation which lies ahead may prove to be even greater than that presented by the war.

Brig Hound

Into the brig went Capriccio, a brown cocker spaniel, when it was discovered that the pooch had been smuggled aboard the cruiser Boise at Le Havre, France, by Seymour Spellman of New York, a home-bound Army veteran. Above, Capriccio gazes sorrowly from behind the bars as the Boise docks in New York.

Air Medal Is Given Co-pilot

Headquarters in Calcutta advises that Flight Officer William M. Boreman, co-pilot, 140 Terrace street, Warren, has been awarded the Air Medal, the announcement coming from Brig. Gen. William H. Tunner, commanding general of the India-China Division, Air Transport Command.

The division is completing, by homeward movement of freight and personnel, its war mission of trans-India, India-China and intra-China transport. It has made air history by flying cargo and passengers in regularly scheduled day and night tansit over routes once virtually unuseable, primarily the famed "Hump". Its war contribution, say aviation leaders, has provided far-reaching portents for the future of air transport on a worldwide scale.

Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of all U. S. forces in China, says of it: "Through enemy fire and through all sorts of weather, over oceans, mountains, desert and jungle, these planes came, never failing. Upon their cargoes battles have been fought and victories won. Upon their cargoes China survived when there was no other contact with the world. Your fliers made the Hump the most famous mountain range in the universe".

The normal pace of a marching army is three miles an hour. But it is the practice during every hour to halt for ten minutes so that the average rate of progress of the column is 2½ miles an hour.

Wherezit?

In the Allied doghouse is the tiny (191 sq. mi.) independent state of Andorra, perched, as map shows, high in the Pyrenees between France and Spain. United Nations War Crimes Commission investigators are reported to have traced hundreds of war criminals there. They are said to be holed up in mountain strongholds, well-supplied and well-armed, even to the point of artillery.

Change In Railroad Route Would Ruin Present Airport

Attention has been called to the fact that when and if the Pennsylvania railroad builds a new bridge across the Allegheny River at a point west of the city that the present airport would be ruined. The proposed rail line, as far as plans now discussed, would traverse the airport and would cause it to be abandoned.

This, however, is not causing too much worry for members of the Town Council and others who are interested in the airport as most of them feel that the Port is not of sufficient size to handle planes that will be in use following the reconversion period.

Runways of a size to care for really large planes with which it is proposed to handle passengers, express and freight must be used and the present airport cannot be enlarged to install such runways. From all indications if the railway uses the South Side route, and that is favored by Council and citizenry, a new air port site must be found. State and Federal aid in construction of a new port could undoubtedly be secured.

Titusville To Have Free Garbage Service

Titusville, Dec. 7—Titusville householders will get their garbage collected free by the city after the municipal incinerator, now in course of construction, is in operation. The incinerator is expected to be functioning by spring, city officials declared. Council also gave out some other good news—prospects of a half mill reduction in the city tax rate for 1946.

'Lost Weekend' Makers Hope One of Important Pictures

BY BOB THOMAS

Hollywood—(AP) — Now that "The Lost Weekend" is astounding movie customers, folks are speculating how the picture will affect the consumption of alcohol.

The film adaptation of the Chas. Jackson novel depicts faithfully (I understand) a weekend binge, complete with D. T.'s and everything. It is one of the two or three important pictures of the year and will cause much comment.

Its makers, Charles Brackett and Billy Wilder purposely injected a line by the male nurse in the D. T. ward of the public hospital. The current capacity of the ward is nothing, he says, you should have seen it during the prohibition days.

Producer Brackett said he and Billy have explored the baser passions too long and will do a musical next. Their star will be Bing Crosby.

Bond Sales Quota Is Topped By Metzger-Wright Employes

That the selling by the coworkers of Metzger-Wright's has not been devoted entirely to the selling of merchandise is evidenced by the report which comes from that store this morning when the announcement was made that they have topped their quota of $60,000 by $862.50 in the Victory Loan Campaign, making their total sales to date of $60,862.50 with a total of 283 bonds sold. Nothing daunted, these Victory Bond Salesmen have raised their quota to $100,000 which will mean a great deal of selling from now until the end of the Victory Loan Campaign.

The store is divided into three teams, the Red, captained by Miss Margaret Nesmith, the Blue, with Mrs. Lorraine Lane as its captain, and the White by Mrs. Mary Jane Olander. Each team has had its day of glory, the day when it was way out ahead of the others, but each day that has been changed and today, the White Team is a little over $1,000 ahead of the Blue Team with a total of $23,093.75 against the Blue Team's $21,787.50.

In the individual standings of the coworkers, Miss Janet Erickson and Miss Nina Sitler are in the lead with each selling over $15,000. During the next week, it is expected that many changes will be made in the standings of both coworkers and teams, and that when the final score is in that the total sales will be well over the new quota set by the coworkers in the Victory Bond Campaign.

Dr. C. J. Frantz Feels Trouble Is Nearing End

Dr. C. J. Frantz, who as citizen and councilman has been intimately acquainted with Indian Run over a long period of years this morning recalled that perhaps Council had been a little short sighted in years past. "Back in the days when labor and material was cheap" said the Doctor, "Indian Run could have been straightened out but it wasn't done and now the cost would be hig... While I was on the Council a plan was worked out to handle the waters of the run and some good resulted.

"Now I think with the project just ahead which I think will be carried out near the property of the Warren County Dairy plant that the run will give no more trouble. This is about the last point where the run is in the street and with the rest of it on private property I can't see where the borough is going to have much trouble. At the present time I cannot see where such a large expenditure as would be required to straighten out Indian Run would be feasible."

NOT MAKING CHECKS

State police this year are not taking part in a check of the deer killed in the Allegheny National Forest as they have done in former years. This year the check is being made by Game Protectors and deputies and stations are placed at key road points. So far few illegal kills of deer have been reported.

HELPS BALANCE BUDGET

In an evening at the sewing machine you can turn out just as attractive gifts as the plaid lamb, doll, picture frame and luncheon cloth which the smart gift giver above has made for Christmas.

By KATHARINE SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Correspondent

New York—Handmade gifts will solve that familiar pre-holiday predicament of a long Christmas gift list and a short budget. Besides being easy on the purse, gifts you make yourself carry a much more intimate holiday greeting.

Women who learned to knit and sew during the war are now using that talent to whittle down gift lists. Sewing centers, which have been catering to capacity classes, have started special after-school instructions for teen-age seamstresses who want to send handmade novelties to friends this year..

Especially popular with the not too experienced seamstresses are such items as doll-sized wing chair sewing boxes, slip-covered with fabric scraps and fatly padded for pins; a polka-dot sash, decorated with buttons;; handkerchiefs with ruffled checked gingham edges, daintily stitched luncheon cloths and picture frames made of ruffly white cotton. An amusing gift for the tea-drinking friend is a cheerful tea cozy that looks like a cottage.

With a crochet hook and a few spools of thread you can quickly turn out a luxuriant looking handbag, chic hat, dress accesories or lacy mitts.

Needlepoint enthusiasts will be thrilled with the gift of an interesting sampler, pillow cover, or luggage rack set which includes the wooden rack frame. Cross stitched blocks in floral designs can be put together to make smart looking small rugs for boudoir or living room.

Fashionwise women are buying South American hand-loomed cotton fabrics in splashy colors and making gala place mats and fringed napkins for luncheon set gifts.

Times-Mirror and Penn Bottles In City League Prelim at Y; Blomquists vs. Youngsville

The Sheffield Penn Bottles meet the Times-Mirror, and Youngsville engages Blomquists tonight in City Basketball activity on the Y hardwood, the Bottlers hoping to equal Struthers Wells' mark of 2 wins in as many starts and Blomquists and Youngsville both seeking an initial win.

Action for the Sheffield quintet and the newspaper boys, still victoryless in their campaign, begins promptly this evening at 7:30 with Penn Bottle hoping to board once again the vitory train after losing an out-of-town game Monday at Jamestown against the Humidors. The Times outfit, on the other hand, hopes to make it No. 1, and it has all the possibilities after their fairly good showing Saturday night at the Y a gainst Sylvania.

The nightcap follows immediately afterwards at 8:30, and this game should match two quite equal teams. Blomquists took a 57-14 shellacking from Bakers in their opener, and Youngsville was whitewashed 51-11 by the powerful Struthers outfit in its first game.

The Penn Bottles will make certain tonight that they leave nothing undone in their attept to tie up the league race by emerging victorious over the Times-Mirror. League frays to date show the Bottlers proving a definite handicap to Manager "Rabbit" Swanson's Struthers team.

Penn Bottle will probably start Sabot anu Moore at forwards to oppose Times-Mirror guards Krespan and Johnson. P. Otto and Ken Bartsch will vie at the center posts, and Petruney and Kunselman will handle the Penn guard positions against Times forwards Scalise and Nelson.

In the second encounter, Ward and Valentine will be at forwards for Blomquists, Arnold at center, and Chimenti and Gustafson at guards. Opposing this combination will be Randinelli and Abplanalp at forwards for the Skating Rink, Murphy at center, and Richards and Dunkle at the guard spots.

County Fives Open Seasons Friday Night

Several of the county cage quintets continue their basketball warring tomorrow night while several others prepare to inaugurate their 1945-6 season.

Sheffield's Wolverines, directed by "Lo" Eisenhauer, move into action for the first time this year when they play host to Tionesta. It will also be a first-nighter for the boys from Forest county. Pregame signs lead to a victory for the Wolverines even though Tionesta is coming back into the cage limelight very strongly with a bid for league honors. Sheffield has several veterans returning to the fold.

Once-defeated Youngsville invades Pleasantville for its second encounter under Mentor Artie Amann. The Eagles, who took a 54-14 whitewashing from the local Dragon outfit last Friday, hopes to even up their record in tomorrow's contest. Dick Smith, Youngsville center who was out of the Warren affair, is expected to return to battle. It will be Pleasantville's second game also.

Everett A. Landin sends his green Sugar Grove charges into the campaign on Friday against Lander on the latter's home court. Both these teams are league contendersfi and tomorrow's fight sets off the loop action.

Russell, with a victory over its Alumni, takes on Hickory on the local High School hardwood to open the latter's season. This game is also a league contest.

As yet, no basketball word has been received from Tidioute High School, but the boys are reported in fine shap.

District Ten Holds Confab At Meadville

Attending from here were J. B. Leidig, athletic director; Floyd W. Bathurst, local principal and H. D. Harris, principal of the Beaty school.

Principal item on last night's agenda was the voting upon six proposed amendments to the PIAA by-laws, and a general discussion on the district athletics was held.

Joseph J. Connors, head football coach at Oil City High School, was appointed chairman of a committee which is to work out a rating system whereby the gridiron champion of the Section Two may be determined. This league would include Warren, Oil City, Franklin, Meadville, and Titusville. Others named to this committee were F. W. Bathurst, Preston Ditty, Meadville coach, and E. J. Maddas, of Erie Academy.

Other items of business were the awarding of a trophy to Erie Academy for its winning the "Big 16" football conference and the appoinmtnet of a committee to plan Class A and B basketball playoff sites.

Locals Await Friday Game At Jamestown

The Warren Dragon courtsters began polishing off today for their "telling" test with the Jamestown Red and Green tomorrow night at the Jamestown Senior High School gymnasium. Coach Joe Massa held no high hopes, however, for his quintet of six-footers although he expects them to put on a much better exhibition than in the two previous games.

The "Big Five" now holds two victories in as many starts, and tomorrow night they will be aiming at a nineteenth victory for Mentor Massa in his 25th start as head Dragon overseer. The Dragons will be out also to revenge two defeats suffered last season at the hands of Jamestown. The Red and Green last year, with 6 ft. 8 in. Royce Newell, outpointed the locals twice, 34-33 and 45-31, before the Massamen reversed the decision in a post-season encounter here, 40-29.

No changes have been made in the local lineup which starts five players ranging from six foot to six foot, five inches. Massa spent considerable time on Wednesday evening stressing passwork, which has been lacking in the first two encounters.

Friday's game will start at 8:30 preceded by a preliminary between the Warren and Jamestown Second teams.

By SID FEDER

Columbus, O., Dec. 6—(AP)—The biggest stock of ivory up for sale, swanp or barter at the minor league trading mart is that collection of baseball talent which won the world's baseball championship for Detroit in 1945.

From what you heard around this dobby-sitting sweepstakes, only seven members of the Detroit Tigers have much chance of hanging their hats under that world title flag come post time for the '46 campaign.

These possible holdovers are pitchers Hal Newhouser, Mr. Twenty Games himself; Virgil (Fire) Trucks and his smokeball and Reliefer George Caster, along with Hank Greenberg, who is just about a death-and-taxes cinch to be doing business at his old first base stand; Eddie Mayo, the "Cinderella Man" second sacker, stringbean Paul Richards, who was all set to take things easy as a coach and now finds himself slated for catching duties again, and Skeeter Webb, who'll handle the utility infield chores.

It is a most unusual situation to find practically the entire lineup of a world's championship club on the block, and ardinarily it would be something like a guy trying to peddle a million dollar bank account for what he can get on the open market. But such was 1945 baseball in general and the weird workmen of the series in particular.

It is virtually certain that first baseman Rudy York is up for sale and that neither Jim Outlaw nor Bob Maier, who couldn't quite add up to one World Series third-sacker between them, won't be hanging out their shingle on the hot corner in 1946.

In place of the outfield that made those obliging curtsies at fly balls during the late series, there will be the returning hands from the armed forces, Pat Mullin and Barney McCloskey, who can hit that .300 bullseye with practically no trouble, and Hoot Evers, a youngster from the University of Illinois and the Beaumont Texas League club who is rumored to be at least a reasonable facsimile of DiMaggio, Ruth and Cobb combined. Hoat's still working for Uncle Sam, but expects "out" by the start of the season.

The Lions packed a terrific wallop last night in the Moose Mixed League to collect a four-point win from the Fixes, and the Wolves came back after losing the first match to take three points from the Badgers.

at the historic Roosevelt-Churchill conference in August, 1941, when the Atlantic charter was proclaimed from the cruiser August a at sea.

"I was not involved in the political discussions," was the general's terse reply.

Simultaneously with Marshall's appearance, the committee received documents showing that months before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor he had told Lt. Gen. Walter Short, army commander there, of the danger from a surprise air and submarine raid. In letters to Short from February to October, 1941, he also cautioned that the first six hours of hostilities would be the most critical period for the Pacific bastion.

Once the five-star general completes his testimony, he will leave for China as a special envoy for President Truman.

Gerhard Gesell of the committee's legal staff said Marshall might be on the witness stand a week.

The five-star general came before the committee after it heard the first assumption of responsibility by a witness for what he conceded might have been a war department failure to give sufficient warning to overseas commanders.

Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, head of the War Plans Division in 1941, told the committee dramatically yesterday:

"If there is any war department responsobility for failure to send additional warning to General Short, it must fall on the War Plans Division and as chief of the division at that time, I accept the responsobility."

Gerow's testimony was on the point that Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short had put into effect only a "sabotage" and not a full alert at Pearl Harbor in response to a message from Marshall.

POPULAR PHILLY NEWS WRITER PASSES AWAY

Philadelphia, Dec. 5—(AP)—Seth Maxwell, 62, one-time sports editor, financial editor and copy desk chief for the Philadelphia Record, died yesterday after a long illness.

Maxwell, regarded as one of the Quaker City's most colorful newspapermen, disliked being an executive. With the Record 21 years he was working as a copy reader—the job he liked best—at the time of his death.

"Maxie," as his friends called him, was a reporter for the New York Post in 1920 and later became city editor of that newspaper before joining the Record.

He protested frequently against being promoted—once in 1932 went out to lunch and stayed away three weeks because he was tired being telegraph editor. He returned with the distinct understanding that he was not to be promoted.

Negotiations To End Strike Are Resumed

The Chrysler-UAW contract was threatened after an all-night session Tuesday night in which the union selected a management offer to extend it for a year and the company turned down a union-proposed extension to Jan. 15.

Robert W. Conder, Chrysler director of labor relations, said Chrysler workers have been given a 15 per cent cost of living increase and an additional ten cents an hour was rejected by the union.

Norman Matthews, UAW Chrysler director, said "we're going to the plants and make Chrysler automobiles" while awaiting response to the union's request for federal conciliation.

One labor plank recommended by the house committee which drafted the document was deleted before its acceptance by house and senate Republicans yesterday.

This plank declared that no organization or labor should be permitted either directly or indirectly to use its funds for any political party or candidate.

The platform will be presented to the Republican national committee at its Chicago sessions tomorrow and Saturday.

Democrats in congress greeted the document with derision.

HUNTINGDON TRIAL IS NEARING AN END

Huntingdon, Dec. 6—(AP)—District Attorney I. Newton Taylor said he expected the trial of Roy R. Mull, 54 year old chicken farmer charged with murder in the shooting of Lee Barber, 72, to reach the jury today.

Mull testified yesterday that during a quarrel with Barber his mind went blank and he had no recollection of what happened.

He said that during the quarrel he accused Barber of being friendly with Mrs. Mull and that Barber told him to "prove it".

Earlier in his testimony Mull said he believed his wife was involved in a love affair with the aged widower. She took the stand to deny any wrong doing with Barber.
